Residents demand better mail service

Last week a group of Romulus residents met with Mayor William M. Oakley to discuss their frustration with the poor mail service they've been receiving lately. Residents who live on Leroy Street called and set up a meeting with Oakley (far left) is shown answering a question from the group and detailing what Romulus citizens can do to get improved service. His answer is for Romulus to have its own post office, and a host of Romulus residents agree with him. However, postal authorities in Detroit have said there is no chance of that happening. Shown with Oakley are (from left) Kenneth Butts, 28301 Leroy; Mrs. Pat Tigney, 28315 Leroy; and Mrs.

Board delays restoration of programs

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Local school children will have to wait for a hoped-for fuller curriculum after the Romulus School Board Monday night voted to table a list of 12 programs recommended for restoration by the 16-member Citizen's Advisory Committee.

The board postponed action on the matter until its next scheduled meeting on Monday, Feb. 27. Included in the list of highest priorities are reinstating two speech therapists, one social worker and one school nurse.

Included in the list of highest priorities are reinstating two speech therapists, one social worker and one school nurse.

Also recommended to be restored was the vision and hearing program; 14 department chairpersons; student field trips; achievement testing programs; a personnel-labor relations manager; increased security personnel; high school co-op program; elementary school instrumental music program and virtually unlimited use of school buildings.

School Supt. James Garfield fully supported the committee's findings and recommended that the board accept them.

On the 16-member advisory committee are 12 residents, Dick Goode, principal of Merriman Elementary School, Jeffrey Bassett, a high school senior, and two teachers, David Ferdon and Joan Omarzu, both of whom are city residents.

Art McPharlin, principal of Hale Creek elementary school, is liaison man between the committee and administration.

The advisory committee's first task was to study programs which could be reinstituted this semester and then decide later what could be restored next school year.

The programs voted to be restored, and their order of priority as given by the committee, include:

(1) Reinstitute two speech therapists, giving district five. Restore one social worker. All three had been eliminated. Restore one school nurse, giving district two.

(2) Restore vision and hearing screening program.

(3) Restore 14 department chairpersons, whose positions had all been eliminated.

(4) Student field trips.

(5) Testing program to evaluate students' achievement and intelligence to help in planning individualized instruction.

(6) Employ personnel-labor relations manager, a position vacant since May, 1975. Manager handles all personnel problems, including hiring, negotiations, and management of collective bargaining agreements.

(7) Hiring of additional security people.

(8) Restore high school co-op program, where students combine classes and work. Provided eight to 24 jobs before, now will provide from 10 to 20, not including co-op program outside Romulus School District.

(9) Restore elementary school instrumental music program.

(10) Increased building use. Cut-backs had curtailed all use of buildings on Saturdays and after 10 p.m. on weeknights. Schools will be available now on practically unlimited basis.

Better mail service sought

Several irate Romulus citizens met with Mayor William M. Oakley last week to complain about their poor postal service.

Residents of Leroy Street in the Meadows Subdivision in the city's far southwest corner poured out their frustrations in the hour-long meeting they set up with Oakley.

Also on hand for the meeting were John Shea, the mayor's administrative assistant, and Jay Young, public information officer.

The complaints centered on the erratic mail delivery the patrons on Leroy Street say they have been receiving lately. Requesting the meeting, which was held at the Meadows Neighborhood Center, were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Butts, 28301 Leroy; Mrs. Lois Jafolla, 28131 Leroy; Mrs. Pat Tigney, 28315 Leroy and Mrs. Alice Ball, 28094 Leroy.

All of the residents at the meeting said the mail service had deteriorated greatly in the past year. "Several days we had no deliveries at all," complained Mrs. Ball, a 5-year resident.

"When we call the post office in Taylor (which houses the Romulus carriers), they seem unconcerned and even rude at times. They tell us they don't have any replacements when carriers call in sick. Another time, they said the carrier got lost and that's why we didn't receive mail that day."

Mrs. Tigney, Mrs. Ball, Mrs. Jafolla and Mr. and Mrs. Butts all praised the former carrier, Lou Kush, and said they received superb service before he was switched to another route.

Mayor Oakley told the group to make their concerns known to him and to everyone in place of authority.

"If it's any satisfaction, you are not alone in your problems," he told them. "Other people in Romulus complain daily of poor mail service."

The mayor thanked the citizens for making their problems known and urged them to get petitions signed to get a first-class post office erected in Romulus.

Fire destroys local firm

Three Romulus firemen were injured, one suffering a crushed right foot, while fighting an early morning fire which destroyed Lincoln Park Engineering Co., 13581 S. Huron River Drive, last Friday, causing $3000,000 in damages.

Injured in the blaze were Gary Marschell, who had his foot crushed when a wall collapsed on it during the 3:30 a.m. blaze, and Assistant Fire Chief Jim Haislip and George Mitchell.

Haislip, 43, and Mitchell, 34, suffered only minor injury when slabs of ice fell on them from off the burning roof. They were treated and released, but Marschell, 23, was admitted to Wayne County General Hospital where he underwent surgery Friday afternoon. Marschell suffered broken bones in the instep of his right foot, ac-

Coffee clatch

The Romulus Roman will sponsor a coffee clatch at 4 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 23, in the community room of Romulus City Hall, 11111 South Wayne Rd.

The meeting is open to the public and will give Romulus area residents the opportunity to discuss local news topics, get their news in the newspaper, and to offer construction suggestions how to improve the Romulus Roman.

No reservations are necessary and the public is invited.

cording to Fire Chief John Wilhide. He was scheduled to leave the hospital on crutches yesterday. Wilhide said the foot is expected to heal so Marschell will be able to walk normally.

In addition to the estimated $100,000 loss to the building, personal property damage in the gutted ruins was placed at approximately $200,000.

Wilhide and the state fire marshal were still going over the ruins Tuesday to find the cause of the fire which is still of undetermined origin.

All four Romulus Fire station units responded to fight the blaze which destroyed a firm that had been in the city for more than 15 years.

"Dream Machine" a hit in display

"National Vocational Education Week" is the reason for the flurry of activity at Romulus High School and many displays and exhibits are getting a lot of attention. But few are getting any more gazes than this "Dream Machine" which is a creation of Michael Gresock, husband of Pat Gresock, coordinator of the week for Romulus Community Schools. The "Dream Machine", a 4 by 6-foot box consisting of levers, knobs, gauges and flashing lights, is on display in the main lobby of the high school. Visitors can see this display, along with all the others, from 8:15 to 11 a.m. and noon to 1:15 p.m. daily through Friday. Mayor William M. Oakley has proclaimed "National Vocational Education Week" in Romulus. Tours of the high school Voc Ed program can be set up by calling Mrs. Gresock at 941-2170, ext. 40. Some 940 students are involved in the voc ed program at the high school. ANP photo by Tom Greenwood.

Social Services office to close

Residents of Westland, Canton Township, Romulus and Inkster will be affected by the closing of the Northwest District office of the Wayne County Dept. of Social Services (WCDSS).

The office, located at 3000 Henry Ruff Road, Westland, is being phased out Wednesday, Feb. 22, under a Management Action Plan (MAP) designed to replace the larger, older offices of WCDSS with smaller, more manageable ones.

In announcing the closing, R.B. Shelton, WCDSS director, said all Northwest office clients, except those residing in Canton Township (zip codes 48187 and 48188) are being transferred to the new Greydale District office at 17330 Greydale, Detroit.

The Greydale office is scheduled to open Monday, Feb. 27.

Shelton said Canton Township clients are being transferred to the Romulus office when the Northwest office closes.

The Romulus office, located at 38211 Van Born Road, was opened last August.

Help mail carriers

Romulus residents were urged to cooperate together in the prevention of injuries to letter carriers, during this unusually severe winter.

Taylor Postmaster George J. Burger, whose area serves Romulus, made his strong appeal this week to help those who deliver mail.

"Considering this is winter, plus the fact more snow has fallen thus far this winter than all last winter, residents can help by removing the snow and ice from their porches, steps, walks and sidewalks," Burger said.

"Also, if people have a mailbox at the edge of the street, they should clean the immediate area so the postal vehicles can get in and out easily."

Taylor Post office houses 98 delivery carriers, with approximately one-third of them serving the Romulus area.

Burger pointed out that falls are the major cause of injuries. He reported that it costs the taxpayer about $2,031 for each fall-related injury.

Although no major injuries were reported so far this winter, Burger said carriers out of the Taylor Post Office have sustained one cracked rib, a sprained knee and injured knee.

"We want to provide prompt and efficient mail service. In return, we ask residents to give their carrier a break - not the kind that results from falls," Burger emphasized.

Council supports Reuther building open

The future of the Walter Reuther Extended Care Facility in Westland is precarious at best, but Romulus City Council has voted unanimously for the facility to be kept open.

Faced with a $13 million deficit, the County Board of Auditors had recommended closing the health care center at the start of the fiscal year, Dec. 1, due to its $3.5 million annual operating deficit.

Wayne County Board of Commissioners, who are in charge of operating the facility, approved $545,820 in supplemental appropriations to keep it open until March 12. However, if nothing is done by that time to see the facility is financially secure through more federal or state funds, it will likely be closed.

"It is unfair to keep elderly patients, their families and our employees in a state of limbo," said Commissioner Arthur Carter, who sought to set the deadline for funding.

In response to lawsuits aimed at stopping the closing of the Reuther Care Center, courts have ruled the county has the right to do so. However, Federal Judge Ralph M. Freeman also said the county must have an "orderly transition plan that includes a six-to-eight week closing notice to patients."

Meanwhile, commissioners sought financial help from the state and were promised a $1.8 million special grant for a six-month phaseout period running through May 31, 1978.

In lending its support to the many voices seeking to keep the vital extended care facility open, Romulus City Council unanimously passed the following resolution:

"The Walter Reuther Long-term Care Facility was constructed with Revenue Bonds, due to expire in the year 2000, at a cost of $10,500,000, and completed for occupancy in June of 1974, and

"The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has ceased the Funding of the Walter Reuther long-term care facility as of Jan. 15, 1978, and

"This action will cause said facility to be closed as of that date, thus causing the transfer of extremely ill patients, and

"Such transfer will most certainly result in the death and disorientation of some of those persons.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that the City of Romulus City Council does hereby urge the Board of Commissioners to reconsider this action and thus seek to continue the operation of this unique health care facility, and that in the interest of protecting human life and eliminating the trauma of uprooting those patients, cancel plans to transfer them..."

Laffs winner

A happy Joseph Krause of Romulus accepts 50 Michigan Lottery tickets from Donna Willett, wife of David J. Willett, owner and publisher of Associated Newspaper (ANP), after he won the first week's segment of a 13-week Lottery Laffs contest, sponsored by the newspaper chain. Krause said his wife, now visiting in California, actually wrote the ditty to go with the cartoon published in the Jan. 25 edition of The Romulus Roman. Her entry said: "Oh little ticket so dear to me, a millionaire I want to be." The Krauses also will receive another 50 tickets from the state Bureau of Lottery. In all, 14 winners are named each week, with prizes ranging from 100 tickets for first down to eight prizes of 10 tickets each. The Krauses have lived in Romulus for 26 years and are the parents of Dave Krause, city assessor for Romulus. The winning cartoon caption was turned in by Krause to Merem's Market in Taylor. Second prize went to Lola Gentry turned into Dave's Party Store, Wayne, while third place was won by Frank Kern, who turned his caption into Dietrich Buick, Wayne. Two winners are selected each week by the participating merchant from a canister in which captions are placed, with final winners being chosen by a panel at ANP offices. — ANP photo.

DDA expansion generates 3,500 new jobs in Romulus

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

For major expansions in Romulus during the past three years by Detroit Diesel Allison (DDA) could provide up to 3,500 jobs by 1983 and has given the job market a real shot in the arm in Western Wayne County.

And these multi-million dollar expansions, combined with other auto-related plant additions planned for Wayne, Westland and Willow Run, are expected to keep the number of jobs increasing to meet the expanding work force population.

Romulus has been helped immeasurably by DDA, a division of General Motors Corp.

Included in Detroit Diesel Allison's four expansion projects are a 780,000-square foot manufacturing facility; a 574,000 square-foot addition to the parts distribution centers; a new 230,000-square foot addition to the parts distribution center; a new 230,000-square foot engineering test facility and the recently announced 391,000-square foot plant to produce new 8.2 litre diesel engines for medium duty trucks and buses.

"Detroit Diesel Allison has announced four major expansions in Romulus during the past three years, so I guess there must be something we like about the area," said Bob Brueck, manager of industry-government relations for the company, in a recent interview.

Brueck had just left Romulus City Hall where he talked with Mayor Bill Oakley about employment prospects for Romulus residents.

Earlier in the day, Brueck had spent half an hour with Joel Carr, principal of Romulus High School, discussing ways Detroit Diesel and the high school can cooperate in training students skills for the job market.

Most of DDA Workers are skilled trades people, and Brueck and Carr are working together to help prepare high schools for that job market. Current DDA employment figures in Romulus total 699 in the parts distribution center and 1,385 in manufacturing.

But while Detroit Diesel Allison is perhaps making the most noise in terms of expansion, several other areas are experiencing large growth also.

In Westland, Leaseway of Detroit, 1515 S. Newburgh Road, a division of General Motors Assembly Division, (GMAD) is in the midst of building a $7 million addition to its huge parts plant.

Construction is a new "stacker building process," according to Robert Stevens, director of Westland's Economic Development department.

"The reason it's the most modern of new buildings is because it's computer operated," said Stevens.

Leaseway of Detroit is under contract to store and handle parts at the Newburgh Road location for General Motors Assembly Division. The Westland plant handles all small GM parts for the entire United States.

Another large building project is the addition to the Ford Michigan Truck Plant on Michigan Avenue at Newburgh Road on the west side of Wayne. That expansion should add many new jobs for those seeking employment.

Three other huge expansion projects during the past three years at General Motors Willow Run Hydramatic plant could put their employee roster at 14,500, a company spokesman explained. The facility is located in Van Buren Township.

John Lynch, director of public relations, reported there have been three stages of expansion at the Hydra-matic facility, under Public Act 198.

Phase I was accomplished in 1974 and the increased efficiency in existing floor space generated 4,000 new jobs at that time Lynch said.

Phase II was a 300,000-square foot addition started in May 1977 and which will provide 3,000 additional jobs by the end of 1979.

Lynch said Phase III was announced last August and the additional 200,000 square feet will increase the employment roster by 800 more people.

"We're very pleased with these expansion programs and look for a good economy in the future," Lynch said.

Westland's Economic Development Director Stevens added that three other auto-related firms in that city were planning expansion that could add possibly 70 new jobs.

One of the companies is 100 percent auto-related, the second is 75 percent auto-related and the third has half of its business connected with the automobile industry.

"We are working with several quality industrial prospects which could conceivably create up to 400 new jobs, plus adding substantially to our city's tax base," Stevens said.

Garfield meets students

School Supt. James Garfield recently spoke to the Romulus High School government class about the many facets of school financing.

Included in his message were comments on the present local financial picture regarding Romulus schools. He discussed property taxes in relation to supporting the educational program and also reviewed the programs which had been restored since the additional millage passed last November.

He also informed the students what programs may be brought back next school year. In that regard, a School Advisory Committee, consisting of 17 members from the community and school administration, were scheduled to make recommendations to the school board last Monday night.

The advisory group has completed their studies and recommended which programs should be reinstated in all Romulus schools.

"It was a very informative session and the students were really happy that Mr. Garfield came to speak," said Rod Hanna, teacher of the student government class.

Senior Bob Glazier invited Garfield to speak to the class in an incentive program where students receive extra credit for getting prominent speakers to come and address the class.

Garfield spoke for about an hour and then answered questions from the students at the end of the period.

Superintendent speaks

Supt. James Garfield of Romulus Community Schools found a very attentive audience when he recently addressed teacher Rod Hanna's high school government class. After his speech, Garfield answered questions from the group. "The students were very interested and showed a vital concern about how our school system is run," Garfield said. "They are to be commended for their interest in becoming better informed and thus becoming better citizens."

In training

National Vocational Education Week is in full swing at Romulus High School this week and various occupations are offering free service to residents who make an appointment for them. In the picture above, nurses aide Gwen Brown is performing a TPR (temperature, pulse, respiration) check on patient Lisa Williams. Health Occupations is offering to take your pulse, temperature and blood pressure with the latest equipment during Voc Ed Week through Friday. Below, Mrs. Jason Lovette approaches "dying" with a smile as student Denise Laster applies color during the treatment. Members of the Cosmetology class are offering free consultations, shampoos and hair sets during Voc Ed Week to those who call ahead for an appointment. Several classes are offering free services by calling Mrs. Pat Gresock, coordinator of Voc Ed Week, at 941-2170, ext. 40, who will set up the visit. One of the most fascinating offers is by the Data Processing students who will chart your bio-rhythms and map your energies, moods and intellect for the next 90 days. Mrs. Gresock reported she is happy with the response shown so far by parents, students, residents and businessmen of Romulus to National Voc Ed Week at the high school. ## In Brief--

BPW forms

Working women of Romulus are interested in forming a Business and Professional Women's club.

Some 40 ladies already have expressed a desire to join such a group and a dinner meeting has been scheduled at 6:30 p.m. Feb. 23 at Holiday Inn, Wickham and Merriman Rd., in Romulus.

All women who work full-time, part-time or are self-employed are welcome to attend.

For more information, call Mrs. Bonnie Lozier at 941-4609 during the day.

Tag time

"It's time again for dog owners to have their pets vaccinated and licensed," Al Lucke, director of the Romulus Animal Shelter, reminded Romulus residents this week.

Lucke reported the cost of a license is $1.50 for a neutered dog and $5 for a male or female dog, providing the license is obtained no later than March 1.

Licenses purchased after that date will include a penalty of $1.50, he reported. Senior citizens, 65 year or older, are entitled to buy a dog license at half price.

Any dog, six months or older, kept in the city five days or more must be licensed, Lucke pointed out. This year, as in the past, Romulus will offer a dual service — selling licenses and giving dog shots — on the next two Saturdays, Feb. 18 and 25, from 2 to 4 p.m. each day.

"For the convenience of residents, a veterinarian has been obtained and will give three-year vaccinations only," Lucke said.

Director Lucke added that a dog canvass will be taken after March 1 to count the number of dogs in Romulus. "Citizens with unlicensed dogs, or dogs running loose, will be faced with a court appearance," he said.

City residents were also reminded this week that the deadline to pay property taxes without penalty has been extended to Feb. 28.

WILLIAM DIEPENHORST

William Diepenhorst has been promoted to assistant chief design engineer by the Michigan Oven Co. of Romulus. In his new position, Diepenhorst, 29, will assist in setting all basic design and pricing of specially-engineered equipment for Michigan Oven, a group company of PC Inc., New York, N.Y. Michigan Oven manufactures industrial thermal equipment including ovens, washers, conveyors and automated processing equipment, serving a broad range of industries. Diepenhorst began his career at Michigan Oven in 1967 as a draftsman. He became a process engineer upon earning a bachelor of science degree in science engineering from the University of Michigan in 1971. Married with one daughter, Diepenhorst lives in Taylor.

Olympic runner to speak at EMU

Olympic track champion Wilma Rudolph will discuss her Olympic experience in a lecture at Eastern Michigan University at 12 noon Feb. 27 in Pease Auditorium.

Ms. Rudolph was the first and only American woman ever to win three Olympic gold medals in one Olympiad, the first to win the U.S. Woman Athlete of the Year Award two years in a row and the first woman to be named Sports Woman of the Year by European sports writers.

The 20th child in a family of 22, Ms. Rudolph was the victim of polio in infancy and did not walk without braces until she was nine years old. By the time she was 15, she had overcome her crippling handicap and qualified for the 1956 Olympics in Melbourne, Australia. She brought home a bronze medal that year and four years later in Rome she set three world records in winning the 100-, 200- and 400-meter races.

Ms. Rudolph is one of only three women to have received the James E. Sullivan Award, presented annually to the year's most outstanding amateur athlete by the American Athletic Union, in 41 years. She has represented the U.S. State Department as a good will ambassador to French West Africa and toured world-wide for the U.S. in 1970.

She has been involved actively in all of the Olympic Games since 1956 and was on the U.S. Olympic Committee for the 1976 games in Montreal. She has worked for the Special Olympics for handicapped children and has served on the Board of Directors of Operation Champ, a community action program designed for youths.

She has taught physical education at all levels, from elementary school through college and has consulted in education, curriculum development and other areas for the California Department of Education.

In her lecture, she will discuss the giving, learning and sharing experiences of the Olympics, what it means to represent the United States, how the Olympics are run, how coaches are selected and how young athletes get involved. She will talk about the continuing debate over amateur vs. professional athletes competing in the Olympics and the commercialization of Olympic champions. Ms. Rudolph also will tell the story of how she struggled to overcome her handicap and became an Olympic champion.

In last part of series

CPAs give advice on filing state returns

(This is the last of a six-part series of articles prepared by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants offering advice on filing 1977 income tax returns.)

How do recent changes in the Michigan Income Tax laws affect you? The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants offers the following comments on filing your 1977 Michigan Income Tax Return.

You may obtain copies of tax forms and instructions through local offices of the Michigan Department of Treasury, post offices, banks and tax return preparers, if you have not already received tax forms in the mail.

You should file a return for 1977 on or before April 17 if your federal adjusted gross income is greater than the total amount that you are allowed for Michigan personal and dependency exemptions, or if you are eligible for a refund. You may not have to file a federal return, but still may be required to file a Michigan return.

For calendar 1977 the tax rate was 4.6 percent. The amount for each exemption remains at $1,500. The Homestead Property Tax Credit is available again this year to all homeowners and renters with special credit computations available to senior citizens, servicemen, veterans, blind persons, paraplegics, quadriplegics, hemiplegics and totally and permanently disabled persons. If your credit exceeds your tax liability you may receive a refund up to a maximum of $1,200.

The following forms are available for claiming this credit:

- Senior citizens and widows of senior citizens, MI-1040 CR-1;
- Active servicemen, eligible veterans, widows of veterans, or blind persons, MI-1040CR-2;
- Paraplegic, quadriplegic, hemiplegic, totally and permanently disabled, MI-1040CR-3; and
- Others that qualify for credit, MI-1040CR-4.

Some claimants may qualify for credit under more than one category. They should compare and choose the one that works to their best advantage.

The credit for homeowners and renters (general claims) equals 60 percent of the amount by which their property taxes exceed 3.5 percent of their household (i.e., spendable) income. The interpretation of household income has been changed this year to exclude, such items as the first $300 of awards, lottery and bingo winnings, and health and life insurance premiums paid by employers. In addition, health and accident insurance premiums paid by the taxpayer for himself and his family are now deductible from household income.

Renters will base their claim on 17 percent of rent paid which will be considered in lieu of taxes in the computation of the credit. Persons living in a mobile home park may claim $3 per month and 17 percent of the rent paid. Permanent occupants of nursing homes may use $125 per month, or 30 percent, of the monthly charges, whichever is greater.

Individuals who have signed an agreement with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources under the Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act may claim a special credit through the use of Form MI-1040CR-5.

If a business operated as a sole proprietorship, partnership or Sub-Chapter S Corporation ends its fiscal year before Dec. 1, 1977, the owner, partner or Sub-Chapter S shareholder may be entitled to claim a partial credit for the Michigan Single Business Tax paid by the business when filing their individual income tax return. This credit is claimed by filing Form MI-1040CR-6. For calendar year taxpayers, this credit is computed on the Single Business Tax return filed by the business.

You also may claim a credit for contributions to Michigan colleges and universities and to public libraries in Michigan. The maximum credit for these contributions is $200 on a joint return.

The Department of Treasury has assigned additional staff to assist you, if you have any difficulty completing your claim.

The CPAs also point out that if any of the following items were included in your federal adjusted gross income, be sure to claim a deduction for them: retirement or pension benefits from a Michigan public retirement system, retirement or pension benefits from other sources up to a maximum of $7,500 or $10,000 on a joint return, refunds of state or city income taxes, and proceeds and prizes won in the Michigan Lottery or State regulated bingo games. A deduction is also allowed for contributions of up to $50 to political parties or candidates.

If any of your federal schedules show a loss (i.e., business, farm, rental, capital), or if you have made adjustments to income on your Federal Form 1040, then you must include a copy of these schedules with your Michigan return.

There are special rules for capital gains on properties acquired before Oct. 1, 1967; non-residents; income derived from another state; persons moving into or out of the state; net operating losses; and extensions of the due date of the return and amended returns. You should seek professional assistance in these areas.

Before mailing your returns be sure that you have completed the following items:

- The return has been signed by both you and your spouse; your address on the return is complete;

- Copy 2 of your Form W-2 is attached;
- Mathematical computations have been checked;
- A check is attached for any balance due; and — If you have an over-payment, you have indicated whether it is to be refunded or applied to next year's estimated tax payments.

In conclusion, the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants also reminds you that if any changes are made to your federal return during the year because of an audit or an amended return, be sure that you notify the Michigan Department of Treasury. If additional taxes are due, you may be liable for a negligence penalty, if you fail to notify the state within 60 days of any such changes.

Attorney General issues guidelines for consumer act

Michigan Attorney General Frank J. Kelley has issued enforcement policy guidelines interpreting the state's Consumer Protection Act.

The guidelines are the product of several months work by Kelley's staff and a 26-member Consumer Protection Advisory Committee, composed of persons with expertise in consumer advocacy, business and the law.

The guidelines specify what types of actions the attorney general will view as being violations of the Consumer Protection Act. They cover the areas of bait and switch, failure to reveal material fact, misleading price reduction claims, price comparison advertising, warranties, direct solicitations, repairs and service.

For example, the guidelines specify:

- An advertisement indicating the price of any motor vehicle must disclose the amount of any additional charge for any optional features displayed in the advertisement;
- Failure or refusal to show, demonstrate or dispose of the property or service offered in an advertisement in accordance with the terms of the offer made in the advertisement shall be considered bait and switch;
- Prices of property or services are material facts which must be disclosed. The use of "codes" or similar devices to indicate the price of property or services violates the Consumer Protection Act, unless the method of interpreting the "code" or another device is simply, clearly and conspicuously disclosed; and — It is a violation of the act to solicit a home sale without clearly, affirmatively and expressly revealing at the outset of the person's initial contact with the consumer or prospective consumer and before entering the residence of the consumer that the purpose of the contact is to effect a sale.

Kelley said: "I wish to thank the members of the Advisory Committee for the excellent job they did in assisting in the development of these guidelines. The experience we had with this committee confirmed a long held opinion of mine that consumers and business really have similar interests in keeping the marketplace open and honest. That is the single goal of the Consumer Protection Act. These guidelines will help achieve that goal by letting the business community know how we view the act."

This is the first step in the hearing and publishing process by which these internal guidelines will be turned into substantive promulgated rules.

Kelley invites comments on the guidelines, which can be obtained by writing him at the Consumer Protection Division, 525 W. Ottawa, Lansing 48913.

The cross-country ski rental service and ski touring center are available this winter at Stony Creek Metropark near Rochester-Utica. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Fridays through Sundays. For details phone 781-4242 or 781-3000 (Washtenaw Exchange).

Recall effort a mistake

By CARL W. MORRIS

The attempt by certain individuals of the community to recall Romulus Board of Education members Gerald Budd, Gloria Chandler, Gordon Silvey and Ronald Christensen should be opposed by all who are concerned about the continuation of a good education program for the boys and girls of this community.

These board members work long hours, attend numerous meetings, and involve themselves in community activities in the interest of education with little or no financial reimbursement. An effective board member must be a dedicated person who makes decisions on a factual basis in the best interests of the total education program if the schools are to survive. I know this is true because I served as a board member in Romulus for 28 years.

This attempt to recall the board members arose from a legitimate action taken by the board members which was necessary because of severe financial problems in the district. The decision was not popular because it involved the transportation of boys and girls to school buildings. The board members had to decide whether to continue a complete transportation system or to cut education programs. Any responsible board member is forced to support education programs over such matters as transportation, although transportation to school is certainly to be considered.

The fiscal problems that caused the Board of Education to reach its decision result from the charges in the tax base that decreased substantially the revenues available to provide education in Romulus. While transportation is reimbursed in part by the State when provided, it is not a mandated service. Further, it should be pointed out that the citizens of Romulus have supported vigorously the community school concept which, if fully implemented, would eliminate busing. Needless to say, the districts around Romulus that are closing large numbers of school buildings because of declining enrollment are faced with a transportation problem because of its cost, and many have had to curtail transportation.

The basic issue before voters of Romulus is whether or not to continue in office board members who, because of their convictions, decided to vote in favor of the best possible education for the boys and girls rather than to cut those programs and provide transportation.

The transportation issue has been resolved and the issue should be put to rest. If board members are to be recalled over such actions, it will become increasingly difficult for the community to induce dedicated and qualified persons to become candidates for the board of education. Should the present board members be recalled, new board members with no experience will have to replace them. Romulus is not out of the crisis stage in education and experienced board members are necessary to keep the schools running.

I urge a "no" vote on the recall of the board members on March 4.

By LEONARD J. FOLMAR
Clerk, City of Romulus

In last week's edition of the Romulus Roman, you carried a story on the front page titled "Audit Errors", wherein you call attention to (as you term it) improper handling of funds. On the Editorial Page you expressed a concern that the casualty of audit owes explanation.

I applaud your stand on this issue and share your concern for demand of Public Official Accessibility! It is, in fact, my belief in these principles which lie at the base of this old, but seemingly lingering Judas, which shall forever more accompany me.

The best interest of this community, the people who reside here, my oath of office and the inherent responsibilities which go with that oath are, and so long as I hold office, shall in the future, as they have always in the past, be my first priority.

In 1975 when no one came forward to organize the Golf Outing, I did it, because it is my belief that it is a positive affair which provides quantifiable benefits to our citizens. However, meticulous records were maintained by myself and/or members of my staff to assure accurate and complete accounting of funds, guaranteeing their deposit.

There is a multiplicity of reasons for the delay in reporting all the funds, however, it was I who assumed the responsibility and I who must bear the criticism, and notwithstanding any reason, legitimate or otherwise, I who made the accounting for the funds. If I were to do it today, many things would be handled differently; but that is not the question. The accounting was delayed because Folmar did not exercise the attentiveness required.

The action taken, with reference to the pension fund, was taken AFTER consulting the City Attorney and the agent for the company.

Let me hasten to say to the citizens of this community, that first and utmost in my consideration, is the best interest of the City of Romulus.

Editor's Log

Seniors are made not born

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

The current controversy that exists in Westland, surrounding the city council's failure to confirm the mayor's appointee to the position of director of the Department on Aging, has brought to the fore problems that characteristically plague our senior citizens.

But, to understand the problems that senior citizens must cope with, it is first necessary to understand what a senior citizen really is. Maybe the best way to find out is to take a good look at one.

Russ Bauchamp was born in 1906 to John and Ruth Bauchamp of Detroit. One of four children, Russ learned quickly that if he wanted any of the little extras that life could provide, he would have to work hard to get them.

He was fortunate enough to be part of a stable family that provided the environment conducive to developing a questioning mind that would well equip him to meet life's challenges.

Through hard work, determination and guts, he was able to put himself through college, and in the year of 1928, Russ offered himself to the world.

Shortly after graduation, he found himself at the gates of one of the auto companies. His youth, vigor and enthusiasm won Russ a job with the company. His starting position was unimpressive, but that deterred Russ not at all. It would not be for 50 years that a youth just out of school would demand a start at the top.

A year later Russ found himself and the rest of the country in the middle of a growing depression that was threatening to destroy all that he had worked for. But, Russ approached the impending crisis with confidence and impressed his employers.

Because of his positive attitude in the face of what appeared to be insurmountable problems, Russ was offered the opportunity to transfer to a different job within the company and maintain a job while so many others were forced to the lengthening bread lines.

Following the depression, Russ found himself and his family in the early days of the 'New Deal'. He continued to do what he knew best, the best he could, and continued to impress his employers.

Promotion followed promotion for the now middle-aged man. Then, as now, virtue was rewarded, and Russ found himself appointed to the position of director of industrial relations in 1958.

He continued to provide his employer with more than a 'good day's work' until 1971, when he had reached the age after which society has arbitrarily determined that no one can any longer make a meaningful contribution.

Russ had not been willing to hang up his working days, but he reluctantly accepted the senior citizen tag that society now hung on him. But, he was not willing to accept doing nothing.

After six months of his retirement, Russ had tinkered himself out of home projects, and he started looking for a job.

He soon discovered, that although he had been rubbing shoulders with high-powered executives for most of his working life, he now was just another senior citizen, and no one seemed to care about his past successes. Even his children, who owed their very lives and a substantial portion of their personalities to him and his wife, now treated Russ with a patronizing attitude that would shortly divide the once close family group.

'Security Guard' the badge said. Russ had found a job. He would now sit for a 10-hour shift on the desk at the rear entrance of the aerospace firm.

He soon learned that to be a senior citizen, one was to be ignored and assumed to be mentally deficient. But Russ' biggest enemy was himself.

It was a constant struggle to maintain his feeling of self-worth. While he felt no particular allegiance to his fellow seniors, if he wished to communicate with a fellow human being, that almost always would have to be a senior citizen.

Because 'no man is an island', Russ and his wife were forced to join a seniors club in order to maintain a social life. And there he sits today. Willing and able to contribute to a society that has deemed him 'worn out.'

Russ Bauchamp sat in the city council meeting on the evening that his elected representatives decided that he did not know what was best for himself.

The city council had just decided that a degree was necessary in order to effectively communicate with senior citizens, and the woman who had made Russ and his wife feel like human beings once again, had just been rejected by the city council for reappointment to the directorship of his city's Department on Aging.

Russ Bauchamp had climbed the ladder of success even before any of the members of that city council had been born. He had probably risen higher in position of authority within business than any of the members of city council ever would, but his elected representatives had decided that they knew more about life than Russ did.

As his fellow senior citizens were milling around the council chambers following the vote, Russ and his wife quietly left the room.

Russ would probably survive this event just as he had survived everything else that life had hurled at him. But now something was missing.

Maybe he really was a senior citizen now.

Mother Nature is wonderful

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

I was reading to my little grandson whose name is Jason and who is well aware that he is a smart kid.

There was a sentence on the page I was reading which said that nature was wonderful. I looked at the front of the book to see who had written it and decided that whoever had originated that expression didn't live in Michigan or else lived in a high-rise apartment and went outside only when his stomach growled. He probably drove by a waterfall in his Lincoln Continental and that's why he decided nature is wonderful.

I don't know. I pull weeds all summer, or at least a couple of days each summer and the other days Uncle Gunnar, who lives with us, pulls the rest. But does it do any good? The grass doesn't even know it is getting a breather and the weeds just thumb their stalks at Uncle Gunnar and grow in mighty bunches.

Uncle Gunnar waters the grass . . . usually in one spot, because after he has turned it on he has a habit of going down to the donut shop and forgetting all about the watering.

But does all that water encourage the grass?

The weeds like it though. They grow trucks.

Michigan also has nasty winters which wounds one's psyche when one considers that Michigan's winters are the result of Mother Nature having a tantrum.

Mother's aren't supposed to have tantrums, as any idealist will tell you, although if you ask a thirteen year old boy or a sixteen year old girl, they will tell you that that is about all mothers do have.

This mother took a shovel a couple of weeks ago and dug a tunnel through the drifts of snow, but did it make a dent in the winter?

The sky clouded up and old Mother nature puffed two more inches this way which completely filled up the tunnel.

After I closed the book and tucked my wee grandson into bed, I sat looking out of the window and thinking about the whole Nature thing and how people go tripping around saying how wonderful Mother Nature is, and all that, and I have decided that while nature might be wonderful there is something positively unnatural about it, just the same.

Ask anyone who got a snow shovel for Christmas . . . or a bottle of weed-killer.

There is a subspecialty of medicine, which despite the fact that it has its origins in China over 5000 years ago, is just now beginning to be studied and analyzed in the West. The reference is, of course, to the art of acupuncture.

Allen Chen, MD, is the Chief of Anesthesiology at the Annapolis Hospital. He is also a practitioner of acupuncture.

"Some years ago," he said, "I had a bad fall while I was skiing. The fall exacerbated a prior whiplash condition suffered in an automobile accident and I had severe pain through my right shoulder.

"As a physician, I opted initially for the therapies offered by my colleagues and peers. To my distress, there was no significant improvement in my condition.

"My next step was to get into my private library and into the available medical literature to learn as much as I could about acupuncture. It may sound strange, but even though I am a native of the Shanghai area and a graduate of a Chinese medical college, I had never been actively engaged in the practice of acupuncture.

"I showed my wife where to put the acupuncture pins and how to twirl them. In an incredibly short period of time I experienced a remission of the pain, and it has never come back."

Dr. Chen said that many of the prestigious medical schools in this country are now looking very seriously at acupuncture. Among those schools he mentioned are the Mayo Clinic, UCLA, Stanford, New York University, Columbia, Harvard, and Massachusetts General.

"For many centuries, we have known that acupuncture had an analgesic and anesthetic reaction on the human organism. Our problem was to prove the science of the technique.

"There were — and many probably still exist — those cynics who were convinced that the use of acupuncture was nothing more than a hypnotic ruse or psychosomatics at work.

"Now," he said, "we have clinical and laboratory data to support the science of acupuncture."

He emphasized that much more work must be done in the clinics and laboratories. The work is being done and the results to date are exciting.

Just a year ago, the discoverer of the human growth hormone — Cho Hai Li, MD — identified and synthesized a natural opiate which exists in the pituitary gland. Dr. Li named this opiate beta-endorphine and he reports that it is from 5000 to 10,000 times more powerful than morphine.

Bruce H. Pomeranz, MD, a neurophysiologist at the University of Toronto, Canada, has accomplished laboratory research which supports the findings of Dr. Li.

Laboratory experiments with both animals and humans have produced positive evidence that following the introduction of an acupuncture pin, agitated to a specific range of frequencies for certain periods of time, the opiate or pain-killing hormone is released into the system to block pain.

A group of researchers at Stanford University led by Avram Goldstein, MD, has also discovered an acupuncture-endorphine relationship.

As scientific data continue to be published, it more and more appears that acupuncture is, or can be, a bona fide therapeutic procedure.

Dr. Chen said he has treated 20 Annapolis Hospital physicians for various conditions of distress and has had impressive results.

"We are just beginning to understand this phenomenon, and clearly much more work must be done. However, it ought to be obvious that the use of acupuncture in cases where such therapy is indicated is preferable to the introduction of foreign chemicals to the body.

"The excitement among scientists is understandable. There is a possibility that research in the area of endorphine hormones may lead to a giant step in the understanding of narcotics addiction and mental disorders."

As perhaps with any true scientific undertaking, the research seems to surface more enigmas than it does explanations. We can hope, however, that the discovery of endorphine and its evident effect on the body will uncover yet another of nature's puzzles and lead to practical applications that will benefit mankind.

Federal aid hastens our demise

While listening to my car radio the other day, I heard a news program in which a woman was relating how her agency could qualify for "50 percent government funding" now that such-and-such a ruling had been made or lifted or whatever.

The woman was overjoyed, so grateful and so happy that it must have made every listener feel good for her and her group.

Then, however, I began thinking. On every hand are heard, read and seen reports of cities, townships and school districts receiving huge sums of money from state and federal governments, usually the latter, in loans and grants.

Everyone seems to act like the federal government is some sort of Santa Claus or a deep, bottomless well filled with money that will never run out.

It actually seems that no one stops to realize that the federal government, or the "fed", as every contemporary newscaster prefers to call it, is nothing more than a super agency made possible by the accumulation of tax dollars contributed by working American individuals and businesses. Nothing more, nothing less!

But, this is all forgotten in today's tinsy-tinsy world as everyone reaches for the big American grab bag full of greenbacks.

Also left by the wayside by these opportunists in the rush to get their share of tax dollars from this grant or that is reality, the reality of what will happen when the well runs dry. Because, at the rate the money is being handed out from Washington, the day will come when more funds will be asked for than are available.

Coming from the conservative Midwest, it seems to me that the whole program or concept of giveaways is wrong. If each of us could go through life, with the knowledge that anytime we get strapped for cash, all we have to do is to ask for a loan and know we'll get it nine times out of 10, what a lark life would be!

I was always taught to keep borrowing to a minimum and to buy only those things I could afford. Like many other Americans, I haven't been so fortunate. However, if every individual borrowed money by way of loans or repeatedly received grant after grant, the nation would go bankrupt in very short order.

With a national debt so staggering that no one wants to even talk about it, and with more and more going out of Washington via loans and grants, our chances of getting into the black dim with each passing year.

It would seem that a nation's leaders would attempt to set an example of efficient business management that would serve as a model for its constituents. But, as everyone knows, such is not the case as we see our government floundering in economic stupor and bewilderment year after year. Countless observations have been made, that if private businesses operated in the same manner as our government, our nation would be destitute.

If we are to shake off the effects of mismanagement in government spending and set objectives that have a chance of pulling us out of the quagmire of overspending, we must do it soon. The recent fiasco of our Social Security system is a grim reminder of what can happen through lack of foresight and planning.

To find no other way than to keep pumping more and more funds into Social Security from outside sources is less than conducive to making it self-sustaining.

It is imperative that our country's leaders begin thinking, as if the government they are entrusted with running, is really as important financially as if it were their own business venture.

Just trying to do a job

To the Editor,

This letter is in reference to the recall of four members of the Romulus School Board. My greatest concern is when and where will it all end.

The school board members are just average people who are trying to do a service to this community. They are not reimbursed for all of their time, energies, frustrations and headaches they get from doing this service for our schools. They give of their time freely, to try and decide what is in the best interest for all children. Our board members all have children now, or in the past have had children in the Romulus School System.

Maybe all of us do not agree with the decisions that have been made. Sometimes mistakes are made, but we learn through our mistakes and go on to do a better job. Is getting petitions signed and recalling the board the answer, everytime our school board made a decision that someone disagreed with.

There have been transfers of students from one school to another. Would you rather have your child in a classroom that is overcrowded, or taken to another school where the teacher would have more time to devote to helping your child get a better education?

When the board chose to stop the buses, I didn't like it any better than anyone else, but money will only go so far. The decision for "no busing" was far better than half days of education and I agree with that decision wholeheartedly.

Once again, do you want a better education for your child or a convenience? Are our school teachers becoming baby-sitters or educators?

The money that has already been spent in trying to pass the millage could have been spent on transportation and better education. Over $24,000 has been spent on election costs alone. Thru all of these millage defeats, the only one who really suffers are the children of this community.

Don't forget, the only way our schools have for obtaining funds for education is through a millage election paid for by our tax dollars.

Now, on March 4th we as tax payers will be paying for a special election to be held on a Saturday, which means time and a half will be paid to city employees as well as school employees. There goes another $7,000 to satisfy a group of approximately eight persons who obtained less than 10 percent of registered voter signatures. To hold an election when the maximum of voters ever turning out for a school election was only about 1200 persons and that was for a millage election which did not vote someone into or out of office. As the old saying goes, the grass always looks greener on the other side.

Try living in Livonia, Westland, Taylor or some of our other surrounding communities. The taxes there are far more than we are paying here. Their schools have just as many problems. Taylor schools are already starting the same cut-backs that Romulus experienced two years ago.

A Special Election being held in March when a regular election already has been set for June seems like a lot of wasted money to me. If you simply disagree with a board member's decision, you have the opportunity not to re-elect that individual when his term expires. Let this minority of unhappy people voice their opinion at the regular election with their votes and not at my expense with a special election.

As a parent, if all I can give my child is a better education with my tax dollars, then I believe I have provided them with a foundation to becoming a better citizen for this community.

I wish to thank the Romulus School Board members for the sacrifices that they have made and their devotion to a thankless job.

J. Lemmon

Thanks, Mayor Oakley

To the Editor:

I would like to thank Mayor Oakley of Romulus publicly through The Romulus Roman.

I feel the Romulus residents should know how fortunate we are to have him.

Mayor Oakley is a peoples mayor who will take the time to talk to any residents. He went more than out of his way to help us. There isn't too many mayors who care that much!

For the last ten winters our court circle was buried in drifting snow.

We called the Romulus D.P.W. and the past mayors several times. Each time they left us with empty handed promises to plow the snow.

Each time it snows, five families that live around the court circle street were trapped by drifting snow.

That meant loss of work. We had to spend the day digging our drive-way and street out of snow.

Worst of all the impassable snow was hazardous for emergency fire or medical.

I wrote a letter explaining the situation to Mayor Oakley.

The next day he called me on the phone. We talked about the problem and he said it would be taken care of.

Mayor Oakley, was a man of his word. From that call on we have had our court snow plowed.

Mayor Oakley was friendly, polite and a man of action.

Please tell all of your readers that Romulus is truly fortunate to have this man as our Mayor.

Energy bill explained

Since soaring utility costs are a major expense for many senior citizens and low-income families, the Legislature recently enacted a program which should provide those individuals with assistance in paying this year's winter heating bills. In fact, some 300,000 families — more than half of them senior citizens, are expected to receive the aid. The new law, which I fully supported, will provide a maximum $200 payment to eligible persons, based on their income and fuel consumption.

Specifically, a family of four making less than $4,000 a year would qualify for the maximum $200 payment. An initial payment of $130 would be sent, with an additional allotment of up to $70 coming later, based on the family's fuel consumption. The money would be sent directly to utilities and then credited to the family's account. A family of four earning a maximum of $7,000 would receive $120. A senior citizen or an elderly couple earning no more than $2,000 a year would be eligible for $200. An elderly couple or individual with an income of no more than $7,000 would qualify for $100.

The state program was established to cover heating costs during November, December and January, but the deadline for applying for the utility aid is April 30, 1978. So, although the state attempted to notify as many eligible citizens as possible, there is still time to apply. Application forms are available from your county Department of Social Services, utility companies and some oil companies. A toll-free hotline number (1-800-292-5930) is open for any further questions about the program. I would also be happy to provide assistance or information about the program to anyone calling my Capitol office.

In related action, the Senate last week approved legislation ensuring that senior citizens will not have their state property tax credits reduced or eliminated because they received home heating assistance checks.

The bill, which I supported, directs the State Treasury Department not to include the $50 federal grants in calculating applicants' eligibility for the tax relief credits.

Seniors citizens are eligible for tax credits when their property tax bills exceed a certain percentage of their income. A recent ruling by the Treasury Department would have required that the grants be reported as income in tax credit applicants. Implementation of this ruling would have had a totally unjust impact on senior citizens and would not have been in keeping with the intent of the aid. The grants were designed to aid those who were unable to pay last winter's heating bills or suffered hardships in doing so. In some instances, senior citizens who received the grants would have lost the full $50 through a reduction in their tax credit.

The bill must now be approved by the House, but speedy enactment is expected.

The Cyprus Gardens in Canton Township

By JOE BENYO

Individuality is a word used to describe one person, or thing, from another. It also is used as separate identity and existence, with personality or having a character of its own.

Cyprus Gardens is a family restaurant located in the Harvard Square Plaza at Ford and Sheldon roads in Canton Township, and although it serves Greek, Italian and American food, it is unique in specializing in Greek food of every description.

A slight problem, however, is that the location of the restaurant is not seen from Ford Road and people traveling or shopping in the area are missing what could be one of the greatest experiences of their lives... a visit to Greece.

Steve Stylianou had a dream from the day he was old enough to remember... to some day be his own person, to cook and serve food to others and to be proud of his heritage. Steve was born in Cyprus some 32 years ago, and through relatives he developed one of the rarest abilities — to transform ordinary food into a delicacy, one that would be eaten in a savory manner.

After learning the art of cooking, Steven went to England where was chef at the famous London Olympic Restaurant for seven years. In 1968 he came to the United States in an attempt to fulfill his dream.

Initially, Steve worked at many Greek restaurants and was chef at a Greek restaurant in Dearborn for 10 years before opening the Cyprus Gardens in February 1976 in Canton.

Cyprus Gardens originally started with close friends as partners, however, last August Steve and his wife Rita took over sole ownership.

Steve is a handsome man and Rita, 32, looks as though she just stepped out of a Greek fashion magazine. With her beautiful dark eyes and hair and a flawless complexion, mixed with an accent that is a delight to listen to, she and Steve have been married for 15 years. Both are natives of Cyprus.

Their children — Amy, 14, Sophie, 13, Lisa, 11, and Vera, 4 — are as business oriented as their parents. All the children help at the restaurant, cleaning tables, filling water, keeping the salad dressings full and general work doing. The children love the work, and look forward to helping their parents after school, on weekends and during school holidays. And they help work out the schedule for split shifts so the younger ones get their proper rest.

Of course, Rita still maintains their home in Canton and takes time to be with the children for their after school activities. Then she returns to the Cyprus Gardens in the evenings.

Both Steve and Rita work seven days a week, arriving at about 8:30 a.m. to open the restaurant at 9 a.m. They close at 11 p.m. and by the time they head home its after midnight, but their zest and love for the business is much more than just financial. It's a love for people, and as Rita says: "Seeing happy people, being able to serve them, having them leave with a smile, knowing many of the customers is well worth the hard work we all put into the restaurant."

At the Cyprus Gardens, regular customers eat there at least twice a week, some more often. But, I noticed, as a regular customer came in, either Steve or Rita would greet them by name, and some, they would even know what they desired to eat — some persons have established a favorite dish and order the same each time. Others, make it a ritual to order Greek one time, Italian another time, and American on their next visit. But whatever they ordered, most often it was the many and varied Greek specialties that were prominent — with souvlaki and shish kebob being the two favorites.

Steve is well known in Greektown in Detroit, and the Greek sections of Dearborn, and other suburban communities and outside of the restaurant. He is most active in the Restaurant Owners Association, and the Chamber of Commerce. His loyalty to the communities is based upon the fact, that he indeed loves people, be it in or out of the Cyprus Gardens Restaurant... This Cypriot is one fine human being.

He knows, and boasts rightly so, of knowing some 10,000 people by their first name, and many of them by their last, as well as where they live, some where they work, and makes a point of making a special fuss over each and every customer... not put on... but a genuine concern for whoever they come in contact with each and every day.

"Americans eat too fast... in London, some people don't mind taking some two hours for dining, doing it with ease, and enjoyment. Here customers want to get in... and get out in a hurry," Steve said of the dining habits when asked the difference between dining and eating from his standpoint as a chef.

Steve took us into the kitchen, where we were introduced to the head chef, Dimitrios Iloutis, who came to the United States only six months ago, but with a background in culinary arts of more than 15 years in creating dishes fit for kings and queens.

His English was limited, and some translation was required by Steve, but in the English that he was able to speak, his glowing smile, and enthusiasm for cooking beamed from ear to ear, and he proudly showed the dishes being prepared.

The night chef, Doug Klean, having been trained by Steve, has been cooking some two years, for the Cyprus Gardens, and under the training of such chef masters as Steve and Dimitrios, feels absolutely confident in his ability to maintain the high standards that have been set by those that trained him.

Steve is quick to point out that there are more than 500 special items that are served for lunch each day, with a rotation that each day is a different item for the diner at the Cyprus Gardens, with at least 15-20 specials every day. No other restaurant around can make that claim, chimes in Steve, and "we intend to increase the specials as space permits."

One of the special features that Steve points out repeatedly is that all the lamb is fresh, and none of the meats are frozen. The fish is fresh each day, and Steve believes that once a customer has tasted fresh meats and fish, as compared to those who use frozen food, the taste is quite evident as to the quality.

Our waitress, Sue, has been with the Cyprus Gardens just over a year, having formerly been a secretary for some two years and relates that between the Stylianou family, whom she speaks proudly of, her co-workers and the people, she enjoys the job of a waitress much better than doing secretarial work.

The decor is a bright patterned wall covering of early 17th century European scenes, paneled in rich walnut half way up the wall. The booths are cushioned in brown leather, and there also are tables for larger parties of diners. A plush red carpet lets the individual customers hold conversations without a large noise level, and makes the dining that much more relaxed. There also is a counter area with seats, that has cedar shake mansard type roof effect, and chandelier lighting throughout the building. There are many velvet type paintings in colorful bold settings, as well as a rare art piece of early Europe as you walk in the door.

The menu is very extensive, ranging from American style breakfasts, served all day, from 90 cents for one egg, hashed brown potatoes, toast and jelly to $4.75 for steak and eggs, with a New York strip steak, two eggs, hash browns, toast and jelly. There's a selection of salads from a small lettuce salad for 85 cents to a large chef salad for $3.10 and a Grecian salad from $1.75 to $3 for a large one.

Soups, side orders, low calorie dishes, sandwiches, children's half orders, house specials, hot sandwiches, American favorites such as meat loaf at $2.85 a dinner, to roast sirloin at $4.25, Italian favorites like ravioli or spaghetti at $2.75 to veal parmigiana at $3.95, steaks — New York strip at $4.75 to a special Cyprus Garden cut at $5.50 — seafoods like cod filet at $2.60, perch at $3.25 and shrimp at $5 — and many desserts are there, in addition to the Grecian favorites of stuffed grape leaves at $4.25, special souvlaki at $3.25, pastisio at $3.50, mousaka at $3.95 and shish kebob at $5.95.

All types of mixed drinks are available, including ouzo, Metaxa cognac and Greek brandy, as well as wine and beer. Prices vary and are moderate in range.

Dinner at the Cyprus Gardens:
GRECIAN SALAD... fresh garden greens, beets, tomato wedges, olives, onions, feta cheese, mild small peppers and a special Greek dressing of dry spices, garlic, wine vinegar, olive oil, lemon juice, oregano, salt and pepper... almost a meal in itself... tasty, delicious, crisp...

OCTOPUS... A marine mollusk with a rounded, saclike body and tentacles... cut into bite-sized pieces and prepared in a wine sauce was not as bad as I thought it would be. Never having eaten anything like this in my life, I was told that it tasted like squid... another item I've never tasted... It wasn't bad at all... somewhat like the white meat of chicken in texture, not fishy or rubbery as I would have thought. However, I only had four small pieces and mentally thought of food, not the item... a delicacy I might leave to others in the future, but it was prepared well and tasted fine.

SHISH KEBOB... broiled over hot coals, the lamb is marinated in olive oil, wine, oregano and several spices. On a skewer, there were large pieces of lamb, very tender in taste — delicious, in fact — interspersed with onions, green peppers and topped with a tomato style Greek sauce, which was delicious in every way, and served over a bed of rice pilaf. The pilaf was very good and also was topped off with a lamb sauce gathered during the cooking process, spiced Greek style.

SPECIAL BAKED POTATO... Baked unpeeled with a tomato, butter, garlic and slight sauce, was prepared and tasted very good. Unlike a standard baked potato with sour cream, it had a taste all its own.

VEGETABLES... Tender peas with green beans... cooked to perfection and tasty.

WINE... Cambas Pendeli 1971... from Athens, Greece, it was dry red wine from Attica and it was superb.

COFFEE... brewed to a mild flavor and not bitter at all... good cup.

DESSERT... Baklava... made of honey, nuts of all kind, cinnamon, butter and a super delicious pastry of 25 thin layers... excellent... the best I ever tasted.

In literature, "The Iliad" and "The Odyssey" have never been surpassed as epics... Homer could tell a story... Oindar was the master of the ode among the Greeks... The Greek god Dionysus, who was honored at festivals, would be pleased indeed of the heritage the Stylianou family has preserved at the Cyprus Gardens Restaurant in Canton.

Steve Stylianou has fulfilled his dream... and shares it with you... Visit Greece... Visit the Cyprus Gardens...

Lecture covers women

The lives of two eminent Black women, Shirley Graham Dubois and Eslanda Goode Robeson, will be highlighted in a lecture during African-American History Week at Wayne County Community College.

Dr. Margaret Burroughs, curator of the DuSable Afro-American Museum in Chicago, will lecture on the two women, who often were overshadowed by their famous husbands, W.E.B. DuBois and Paul Robeson, in a program at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the college's Greenfield Center, 8551 Greenfield near Joy Road.

Also featured in the evening program will be the Donald Vails Choraleers, Detroit community choir, which performs a wide range of religious music with an emphasis on Gospel. There is no admission charge for the event.

The program is part of the Advanced Institutional Development Program (AIDP) faculty development activities at the college.

The evening lecturer, Dr. Burroughs, has traveled widely in Africa and was one of 22 American women selected by the U.S.-China Peoples Friendship Association to visit China last year to observe the status of women in that country.

She is a recognized published poet and artist and is well-known in Detroit educational and cultural circles.

Snow affects utilities' bills

Consumers Power Co. gas and electric customers who paid their utility bills by mail during the week of Jan. 23 could find they didn't receive credit for such payments in their February billings.

In addition, J. P. Thomas, district manager for Consumers Power's Livonia District, said many customers will be receiving estimated electric and gas bills this month as a result of the Jan. 26-27 blizzard. Delays in mail service caused by the severe storm prevented numerous customers' accounts from being credited with recent payments. As a result, many will find that their February statement shows that payment is due not only for January service but for December as well.

Thomas said accounts will be credited with proper payments as they are received and any discrepancies will be cleared up by the next billing period.

Customers who receive bills with an "EE" or "GE" at the bottom of the service code column have had their energy use estimated. The estimate will be adjusted at the next actual meter reading.

Time to look forward to new garden season

It may be hard to think spring when the wind is swirling snow around your ears. But Michigan State University Extension specialists say it's not too early to begin looking forward to another gardening season. They suggest:

- Trade your snow shovel for a stack of seed catalogs and plan your 1978 garden and landscape plantings. Order your seeds and plant stock early.
- If you've been feeding the birds, keep at it. By now they're relying on your feeder. If you stop feeding them, they may starve.
- Check landscape plant protectors and repair them as necessary to keep plants secure against nibbling rodents, flying salt spray and heavy snow or ice.
- Inspect the winter coverings on perennials and spring bulbs and add to them as needed.

— Check shrubs and trees for masses of tent caterpillar eggs. Egg masses are gray, they encircle small branches and they are covered with a tough, foam-like outer surface. Remove and destroy the egg clusters to eliminate some of this year's pests. Also pick bagworm cases off landscape plants. Destroy them and the eggs they contain.

— Apply dormant fungicide sprays to shade trees that were badly infected with anthracnose last spring.

— Prune wisteria, fruit trees and grape vines. You can also prune other ornamental trees and shrubs, except for spring-flowering species and "bleeders" like birch, dogwood and maple. Pruning now will remove the flower buds on spring-flowering plants and cause "bleeders" to drip sap from untreated wounds. Leave these for summer.

— Continue to check stored fruits and vegetables, bulbs, corms and tubers regularly. Discard unusable produce or moldy or damaged plant materials.

— Water slow growing houseplants only when they need it. It's easy to overwater in the winter when plants aren't getting enough light to grow vigorously.

— Bulbs potted in October can be brought out of cold storage in February and forced into bloom.

— Cut branches of quince, pussy willow, forsythia and other early flowering shrubs and force them to bloom indoors.

Water, light kill plants

The most common winter "disease" of houseplants in Michigan isn't really a disease. It's oedema, a physiological problem related to too little light and too much soil moisture.

"The only way to control this problem, short of putting your houseplants under fluorescent lights, is to water plants less often," advised Frank Laemmlen, Michigan State University plant pathologist. "Water thoroughly, then allow the soil to dry out fairly well before watering again."

Early symptoms of oedema are small, blister-like eruptions on the undersides of the leaves. Affected tissues appear water-soaked and develop tan to brown corky centers. As spots become more numerous, the affected leaves turn yellow and drop off. Once affected, leaves do not recover.

If you see that your plants are developing these symptoms, improve the light — by moving them to a sunny window or placing them under artificial light — reduce watering and repot, if necessary to improve soil drainage.

During Blizzard of '78

Radio operators keep channels open

While most people either struggled to get home through the "Great Blizzard of '78" or simply stayed at home, 62 members of the Wayne County Amateur Radio Public Service Corps fought to maintain communications between rescue units and Red Cross shelters across four counties.

Working in conjunction with the Wayne County Office of Emergency Preparedness based at Eloise, Wayne Wiltse of Plymouth, the Emergency Coordinator for the amateur radio operators, put the communications network on "alert" status at 8:20 a.m., Jan. 26, and then moved to "Red" alert by 11 a.m. when the snow storm turned into a full-blown blizzard.

"We opened the network on the 147 MHz band and as the blizzard increased in intensity, we started utilizing the 220 MHz repeater in Livonia and then became part of the emergency 80-meter band that ties in with every emergency unit across the state," Wiltse explained.

Before the Wayne County network was closed down Sunday morning, the local hams had mobile radio crews scattered through Wayne, Washtenaw and Monroe counties riding with National Guard units trying to crash through 10-and 15-foot drifts to reach snowbound families shivering in their cars or at home without food, heat or electricity.

According to Leland Onkka, acting director of the Wayne County Office for Emergency Preparedness, the base unit was manned around the clock by Tom Pickhart of Livonia, Nick Zamylo of Wayne, Craig Adams of Novi and Don Mihalek of Westland, along with himself and Wiltse.

"The first request," Wiltse explained, "came from Wayne County General Hospital. They said they desperately needed stand-by teams with 4-wheel drive vehicles to reach snowbound cases. We dispatched four units."

"In the meantime other teams composed of 4-wheel drive trucks and mobile radio units and operated by Myron Orman, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hill, Joseph Dulbs, Gil Perry and Herman and Joyce Holin succeeded in locating eight persons in the Plymouth area and getting them to shelters," Onkka said. "Through the repeater unit in Ann Arbor we discovered that National Guard rescue trucks did not have mobile radios in Washtenaw County, so Charles Romick Jr. volunteered to help in that area."

"The same situation was also developing in Monroe County, and two more teams, headed by Al Harms and Chuck Matson, both of Westland, headed for the I-75 corridor where shelters had been set up by the Red Cross to house stranded motorists and homeowners who had been forced from their homes."

"We had several calls," Wiltse explained, "from worried wives and relatives asking for help in finding missing motorists. One, had left a hospital in Lansing headed for Ann Arbor. In each case we contacted repeaters in Monroe, Washtenaw, Livingston, Ingham and Lenawee Counties and local amateur operators, then checked out each of the Red Cross shelters until we located the missing persons.

"Repeaters are saucer shaped units that sit on the tops of high buildings and amplify weak radio signals so that they can be passed on to receiving stations many miles distant."

Students net spot in book

Six students from Belleville High School will be included in the 1978 edition of "Who's Who in Music" when published later this year.

The students' names were submitted to the publication by Mary Louise Pitcher, vocal music director at the high school. Inclusion in the book was based on their music ability, academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential.

They all are members of the high school's choir.

IRA can trim taxed income

Millions of tax payers who can reduce their taxes for 1977 will fail to do so. They have only a few days left to make the arrangements.

Those eligible for the tax cut are people who work but are not covered by a retirement plan. Only about two percent have taken advantage of a new law passed on their behalf.

Men and women who have regular jobs but are not covered by their employer's retirement plan can set up their own program. It is called an Individual Retirement Account (IRA).

Those who have not been with an employer long enough to qualify for the company plan or choose not to be covered also are eligible. Each of these groups of people can contribute 15 percent of their earnings up to a maximum of $1,500 a year.

If they do this, they, get an immediate reduction of federal taxes. Those in the 25 percent tax bracket would find their taxes cut by $375 a year, if they contributed $1,500 annually.

All earnings on the money they have set aside also accumulate tax free. A regular annual investment of $1,500 which earned 6 percent a year would be worth $129,000 in 20 years. But for the vast majority of people an IRA must be set up by Feb. 14, 1978, otherwise it will not qualify as a tax reduction for 1977.

Taxes eventually are paid when the money is withdrawn from the plan but, as this is a retirement program, most people will take the money out only when they have retired and therefore when they are in a much lower tax bracket. There is a penalty for early withdrawal.

The money can be invested in a variety of ways including trust funds, life insurance annuities or government bonds. It also can be invested in any one of 600 mutual funds, all of which have different investment objectives.

David Silver, the president of the Investment Company Institute, said: "There are about seven million families earning $15,000 or more a year who qualify for an Individual Retirement Account. Any qualified American with adequate financial means who does not take advantage of this highly attractive opportunity for tax savings provided by law is not planning prudently for the future."

Thomas Jefferson's shoe size was 12 1/2.

Show looks at man

Public television explores the complex relationship between a work of art and the life of its creator when Channel 56 presents "New Orleans Concerto."

Performed by the New Orleans Symphony Orchestra, the concert climaxes a documentary on black classical composer Roger Dickerson Mar. 1—10 to 11 p.m. The orchestra will be conducted by Werner Torkanowsky, who, in addition to his work with the New Orleans Orchestra, also serves as guest conductor and associate to the music director of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

The "New Orleans Concerto" is a symphonic composition based on traditional New Orleans rhythms and melodies. "New Orleans Concerto" traces the development of the concerto from its inception to its premiere in New Orleans in January 1977.

A film of this spirited 25-minute performance highlights the one-hour documentary. Interviews with Dickerson's family and friends, and with soloist Leon Bates, another rising young black musician, round out an exploration of the multiple influences at work in the composition.

Players to stage romantic 'Anatol'

Eastern Michigan University's Hoyt Conference Dining Center will take on the romantic flavor of 1890 Vienna in February when The Prime and Players dinner theatre opens with "Anatol."

The musical is the opening production of The Prime and Players, which is directed by Ken Stevens. Eastern Michigan's graduate touring company, the Portable Players, will perform "Anatol" every Friday, Saturday and Sunday evening through Feb. 26.

Adapted for the stage by Tom Jones and Nancy Ford, "Anatol" is the story of an incurable romantic with a flair for having affairs. According to director Stevens, Anatol seems to fall in and out of love with the change of seasons — an apparent paradox given the time and place.

"It's definitely satirical," Stevens said. "It pokes fun at the 19th century romantic and the Victorian mores."

The fun-poking in "Anatol" is pulled from the stories of Arthur Schnitzler and veiled in the familiar music of Offenbach. The lyrics become a bit offbeat at times, Stevens said, as is the case when one of Anatol's strange and badly-rhymed poems is set to music.

"For every woman he has even known, he has always kept some memento — a lock of hair, a flower that may have been on the table that evening — and he has hundreds of them in little envelopes which he keeps in alphabetical order and identifies with a little poem."

Anatol's affairs are not always what Stevens calls "affairs of the body." Some are affairs of the mind — figments of his imagination. In one scene, Anatol falls madly in love with a woman in 15 minutes — a woman he never sees again. This does not leave much time for the affair to become sordid.

"But that's part of the charm of Anatol's character," Stevens said. "He's just a hopeless, hopeless romantic."

"It's hysterically funny, to see him bumble through his love life."

The Prime and Players Theatre will be presented at 8 p.m. with dinner preceding at 6 p.m. A gourmet meal, featuring prime ribs of beef au jus, will be served by waiters and waitresses. Fine wines and cocktails will be available.

Admission to the dinner theatre is $10.95 on Friday and Sunday and $11.95 on Saturday. Admission is by reservation only. Free parking is available adjacent to the Hoyt Conference Center complex.

For further information or reservations, call 487-1221 or write The Prime and Players, Speech and Dramatic Arts, Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti 48197.

Students plan meal

A buffet, which will feature 50 Italian specialties, will be given for the public by the Washtenaw Community College culinary arts students at 6 p.m. Friday in the campus dining room.

The dinner is one of a series of "elaborate meals students in the culinary arts program prepare as a chance not only to make dishes they don't have an opportunity to put together on an everyday basis, but also to raise funds so they can attend the culinary arts show in Chicago," James Beaton, coordinator of the foods department explained.

The buffet which will feature veal, chicken, beef, pasta, vegetable, seafood dishes as well as numerous breads, tortes and other sweets, also gives those students with an inclination to do ice sculptures, an art form few in this country have a chance to do any more, Don Garret, instructor in the department noted.

The public is welcome at the buffet. Tickets are $6.50 for adults and $3.50 for children 10 and under. The culinary arts dining room is located on the first floor of the Learning Materials Center of the college at 5800 East Huron River Drive.

Further information is available from Jill Gannon, instructor in the food service program at 973-3584.

Jail construction may start within 90 days

Construction of a new Wayne County jail in downtown Detroit is expected to start within 90 days, county leaders announced following agreement on a compromise plan for the facility.

The project had been stalled for nearly a year by opposition to a previous plan. Opponents feared there would be a negative impact on nearby Greektown, a popular area of shops and restaurants.

Agreement on the compromise plan was announced jointly by key county leaders, Detroit Mayor Coleman A. Young and representatives of the Central Business District Association (CBDA) and the Greektown Merchants Association.

John Barr, chairman of the County Board of Commissioners, said construction will start in 60 to 90 days.

Barr and Young credited County Commissioner Richard E. Manning with working out the compromise plan. Manning is chairman of the board's jail construction sub-committee.

The new plan calls for a 700-cell, 9-story detention structure on the former Detroit Recorder's Court site behind Detroit Police Headquarters between Clinton and Macomb streets.

This is a block farther north than the site plan which drew opposition. The earlier plan called for a taller 800-cell structure on a block which includes the north side of Monroe Street, Greektown's main avenue.

Under the new plan, a two-story administration building will occupy 40 percent of the disputed location, with a parking deck for 110 cars taking up the rest of the location.

Manning (D-Redford) said moving of the detention structure a block farther from Greektown and the inclusion of parking were keys to winning the agreement.

Barr (D-Dearborn Heights) said the jail entrance will be on Clinton Street where the present jail and the Recorder's Court building are located and "as far from Greektown as we can get it".

The new jail will have 600 cells for pre-trial prisoners plus a 100-cell overnight lockup for the Detroit Police.

The present 720-cell jail, dating back nearly 50 years, will be retained to house offices and overflow prisoners.

County Auditor Leonard D. Proctor estimated the project will cost between $25 and $30 million.

In 1976 the voters approved a five-year special property assessment of one-half mill which will raise some $35 million for construction and operation.

Proctor said the Board of Auditors had invested the first year's revenue of some $6.7 million and expect to gain some $300,000 in interest.

Construction of a new jail was virtually mandated by a panel of three Wayne County Circuit Court Judges which ruled the jail must meet current standards of the Michigan jail code.

There's Still Time To Save On 1977 Income Taxes

Open a Security Bank 7¾% Individual Retirement Account by February 14, 1978, and take a tax deduction on 1977 income.

A recent government ruling has extended the period for opening a tax-sheltered IRA Account and earning a tax break on last year's income taxes. Now you have until February 14, 1978 to open an Individual Retirement Custodial Account (or add to your existing IRA Account) at Security Bank and use the deposit as a deduction on your 1977 tax return.

A Security Bank Individual Retirement Custodial Account is as easy to open as a regular savings account. It offers a 7¾% annual rate with a three-year maturity and is automatically renewable. With quarterly compounding, the effective annual yield is 7.977%. Annual statements are provided.

Qualifications You qualify for this tax-sheltered retirement account if you are not currently a participant in any employer-sponsored retirement plan. What's more, an additional IRA Account can be opened for your spouse as long as he or she is not employed and receives no compensation.

Tax Savings Contributions up to $1,500 (or 15% of compensation, whichever is less) are deductible from adjusted gross income each year. A spouse's additional IRA Account increases the maximum to $1,750. All contributions and the interest earned on your IRA Account accumulate tax-free until withdrawn at retirement.

Open-End Feature Deposits must be in the amount of $25 or more. However, you can make as many deposits to the account as you wish in order to accumulate your annual contribution. Each deposit earns from the day of deposit. All deposits made during a calendar year have the same maturity date—three years from December 31 of the year in which the deposits are made.

Start Now For more information, or to open your account, call 283-5000 or visit any Security Bank and Trust branch office.

Withdrawal from an IRA Account without penalty may be made at age 59½ or in the case of death or permanent disability. Otherwise Federal law and regulation prohibit the payment of a time deposit prior to maturity unless three months of the interest thereon is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to the passbook rate. There is also a substantial I.R.S. penalty for early withdrawal. This account is subject to IRA rules and regulations.

SEMTA sets new suburban fare structure

Change takes effect May 1

The Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) has announced a new suburban fare structure for all SEMTA routes.

"The new suburban fare structure, which actually lowers rates in some areas, will go into effect May 1. For the first time the region will have an equitable and easily understood fare structure," said Larry E. Salci, SEMTA general manager. "We are not increasing fares for all SEMTA bus riders. We are simplifying the fare schedules and equalizing fares throughout the region."

"Fifty percent of our riders will experience a fare decrease, 28 percent will experience a fare increase, and 22 percent will experience no change at all."

Six suburban fare zones, each approximately three miles wide, have been created around the City of Detroit. For a base fare of 50 cents, a passenger may ride through two zones. An additional 15 cents will be required to ride a bus through each additional zone with the maximum fare set at $1.25.

"Until now, SEMTA has retained the fare structures in existence when it purchased and consolidated four major private bus companies and the Grand Trunk Western commuter rail service," Salci pointed out. "As a result, fares for traveling the same distances on regular bus routes in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties have differed within the same county and from one county to another."

"For example, a bus trip from Royal Oak to Highland Park on a former Martin Lines route cost 35 cents, while the same trip on the former Great Lakes Woodward route cost 70 cents."

"The current system also lacks coordination between the fares for regular buses, limited-stop buses, park and ride buses and commuter trains," he said. "Under the new fare structure, fares for all of the vehicles will be based on the same principle on every route in the metropolitan area."

In addition to the change in regular bus fares, riders on the SEMTA commuter rail service and park and ride buses will pay an additional 15 cents. Riders of limited-stop buses will pay an additional 10 cents.

Senior citizens and handicapped persons will continue to pay half fare in off-peak hours and full fare during peak hours on all SEMTA routes.

For additional information regarding the new SEMTA suburban fare structure, call 962-5515 or 1-800-462-5161.

Utility's program will keep power on to area's seniors

Consumers Power Co. has initiated a program aimed at preventing discontinuation of utility service to senior citizens.

Under the program, in a household where either the husband or wife is 65 or over, the customer may designate a third party to be notified if a final notice that service will be discontinued is sent to the customer. The third party may be a relative, friend, clergyman, social agency or other responsible person selected by the customer.

The third party, who is under no obligation to pay the bill, will receive a duplicate copy of the notice.

"This program which starts this month provides an additional check for our elderly customers," said J. P. Thomas, district manager for Consumers Power.

A message will be printed on all residential customers' energy bills during the next month notifying customers of the availability of this plan and providing a simple form for them to notify the company.

Customers completing the form will receive a brochure explaining the program with their next bill. In addition, any new eligible customer applying for utility service will be advised of this program.

The brochure will be accompanied by a self-addressed envelope which can be used by the customer to send in the "Third Party Notification" request form.

"We have a great deal of concern for customers, especially the low-income, elderly people who depend on us for heat. We have instituted this 'third party' program so that someone else besides us and the customer is aware that a bill has not been paid despite all our best efforts to arrange payments," Thomas said.

Woodcarving demonstrated

A "Woodcarving Demonstration" will be presented at the Nature Center of Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock on Sunday Feb. 19 from 1 to 4 p.m.

Members of the Livonia Woodcarvers will be on hand to demonstrate woodcarving techniques and answer questions about tools, types of woods to use, as well as display some of their recent carvings.

This program is free. Vehicle entry permits are required.

For additional information contact the Nature Center of Oakwoods Metropark at 782-1255 (Flat Rock).

Horror classic to air March 1

"Count Dracula," the Bram Stoker horror classic that has been thrilling people for over 100 years, makes its chilling, public television debut as part of the "Great Performances" series. The three-part presentation starts March 1, at 9 p.m. on Channel 56. The next two episodes will be shown the following Wednesdays at 10 p.m. Part 1 of "Count Dracula" has the Prince of Darkness lurking around his castle in Transylvania, harassing his unfortunate prisoners and, all in all, just being a pain in the neck.

The next part has the vampire king in England in search of new victims to join the ranks of the undead; blood relatives, so to speak. In Episode 3, the Count's days are numbered as Professor Van Helsing leads the forces of good against the unholy evil of Dracula. It might be said that, during the climax, there's a lot at stake.

Louis Jourdan, in perhaps his most unusual role, stars as Count Dracula. The part of Professor Van Helsing is played by veteran actor Frank Finlay.

Youths should spend day at Jackson Prison

Wayne County Commissioner Jackie L. Currie has proposed that youths charged with criminal offenses at the County Youth Home be required to spend a "Day at Jackson Prison" talking with lifers and touring the facility to "see what it really would be like to spend most of their life there."

Currie has recieved the support of Juvenile Court Judges James Lacey and Gladys Barsamian to bus the first group to Jackson on a pilot program basis. She is seeking permission for the visit from the director of the State Department of Corrections in Lansing and the warden at Jackson State Prison.

Currie said she is proposing this "dramatic, face-to-face contact with hard-core lifers" in the hopes of turning these young people away from a life of crime.

She said her proposal is based on a highly-successful program started at Rahway State Prison in New Jersey where "tough-looking lifers" tell youthful offenders that prison is a "living hell" where you can be beaten, raped, compelled to serve as a slave to another, more powerful, inmate and even murdered.

Currie said she was very impressed with the impact the Rahway program has had on reducing repeat crimes by juvenile offenders, as reported in the January issue of Reader's Digest.

"About 4,300 young people — boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 20 — have visited Rahway Prison since the program began in September 1976," Currie said. "Of the first 3,200, only about 6 percent have been in trouble with the law again."

According to the Reader's Digest article, one New Jersey judge reported that, under normal circumstances, he would have seen 70 percent in his courtroom again.

Currie said the County Youth Home houses about 250 youth. Some 100 youth are wards of the state and should be moved to State Training Schools to alleviate chronic overcrowding at the home.

"At present, I'm interested in trying to reach those young people who are awaiting trial and still are the responsibility of the county," Currie said. "Like the New Jersey program, I want these young offenders to experience a type of 'criminal justice shock treatment'."

"Too often, juveniles see crime or prison life glamorized on television or in the movies — or perhaps they even know someone who brags about serving time in Jackson for a short time," she said. "Well, these kids need to know that life in Jackson is tougher than anything they've seen on the streets."

"They need to know that they won't have Burt Reynolds as their quarterback as they have seen in the movies. They need to see the locks on the cells, the open toilets, the regimentation, the monotony, the lack of freedom of choice and movement."

"They need to come eyeball to eyeball with some of Michigan's toughest criminals. Maybe then they'll decide to turn their lives around, knowing that if they don't change one of these hard-nosed inmates will mop of the jail cell with them."

Currie said she plans to work with juvenile court authorities and prison officials to set up the actual format for the prison visit as soon as she receives state approval.

"We intend to develop the program that will have the most powerful impact on their young minds," she said. "When that door swings shut after their 'Day at Jackson,' we want them vowing never to return."

Take a break— Plan a garden

Haul out the seed catalogs and step into spring. It's garden planning time!

Enjoy turning your back on snow shoveling for a while, but read those catalogs carefully, advise Michigan State University horticulturists. And take advantage of the quantities of useful information seed catalogs provide.

Look for information on days to maturity, disease resistance and special uses, the horticulturists suggest. Select varieties that will mature within your local growing season. If possible, select early and late varieties and crops for successive planting to extend your harvest and make maximum use of your available space.

Choose disease resistant varieties to minimize disease problems. And look for varieties recommended for canning, freezing or storing, if that's what you intend to do with the produce.

Other information you might glean from seed catalogs includes planting depth and spacing, quantities of produce from a given number of row feet or rows, and the number of seeds or row feet you can plant from one packet or measure of seed. This information can be very useful when you're trying to decide how much seed you'll need to grow the quantities of produce you can comfortably use.

It's a good idea to get more than one seed catalog so you can compare prices, the MSU specialists suggest. Prices can vary considerably from one seed source to another.

Why bother with seed catalogs at all? Why not just buy your seeds off the rack at the grocery store? You have a better chance of getting fresh, viable seed if you order direct from a seed company. And you'll have more varieties to choose from.

Many of the varieties recommended for Michigan by MSU are available only through seed catalogs.

Keep your garden spot in mind as you decide what you'll grow. If you have a small area, avoid sprawling vine crops like pumpkins. You might want to try bush winter squash, however. If part of your garden is shaded part of the day, plan to grow leafy vegetables or root crops there. Save the sunny spots for tomatoes and other crops that bear fruits.

If gardening space is limited, consider working vegetables into window boxes, flower beds, in borders along sidewalks and drives and in other easily overlooked spots. A border could be planted in leaf lettuce and radishes. Peas could grow in a spot that would later hold petunias. And a tomato plant or two could do quite nicely in that sunny spot by the back door.

Faust criticizes lack of Disaster Contingency Fund

Senate Majority Leader William Faust (D-15th District) has criticized the executive branch for its continuing failure, after a delay of more than a year, to submit an appropriations request to fund the state's Disaster Contingency Fund.

A $500,000 State Disaster Contingency Fund was authorized in Michigan's new Disaster Act, Public Act 390, which took effect in December 1976. The fund was created to provide grants of up to $20,000 to local units of government that are extraordinarily pressed by disaster-related expenses for which no federal assistance is available.

"The need to move quickly to appropriate money for the fund became apparent early in 1977," Faust said, "when the state was hit with a severe snowstorm and later with a tornado."

Even before rules for administering the fund could be developed, hard hit counties and municipalities were applying for grants under the new act. Under emergency rules, 80 local governments were declared eligible for grants. Using money left from an earlier emergency fund, the local units were paid a third of the amount due them.

"The legislature has yet to receive a request to appropriate money to pay the balance of last year's disaster grants and to fully fund the Disaster Contingency Fund," the Senate Leader said. "Now we've been hit with another disaster; the Governor is encouraging local governments to expect assistance under the state disaster grant program, and the legislature still has not been asked to appropriate the necessary funds."

Faust noted that federal assistance provided during the recent snowstorm would be limited to expenses incurred in contracting for snow removal by private firms. Local governments will not be reimbursed for contracts let during the first two days of the storm before Michigan came under the President's emergency declaration. It is expected that many local government budgets will be severely strained by overtime costs, damaged snow removal equipment and the expense of caring for storm victims.

The Senate Majority Leader also suggested that there be no further delay in establishing a state emergency operations center.

Michigan is one of the few states in the nation that does not have a permanent emergency operations center for coordinating disaster response activities. Such a center would be housed in a protected location, provide essential communications equipment and offer sufficient space to accommodate key state and federal agency personnel.

Brighten the inside

You can brighten the gray days of winter with spring flowers by following some tips from Michigan State University horticulture specialist Lee Taylor on forcing early flowering shrubs and trees.

Forcing means to bring a plant into bloom ahead of its normal flowering period outdoors, Taylor explained. Bulbs — narcissus, hyacinth and others — are the most commonly forced plants. But you can also make branches of pussy willow, forsythia, quince, maple, hickory, fruit trees and other trees and shrubs bloom indoors in the winter.

Begin by collecting 1½ to 3-foot-long branches from the plants. Cut them carefully with a sharp knife or pruning tool so you don't injure the plants. Collect them when the temperature is above freezing, if possible.

Bring the branches indoors and place the bases of the stems in a bucket of water. Keep the bucket in a well lighted spot at a temperature of about 60 degrees, and mist the flower buds several times a day as they start to open.

Start using the branches for decoration as soon as the flower buds begin to show color.

State assistance available to pay 1978 heating bills

An estimated 125,000 to 150,000 Wayne County residents may receive help paying utility bills for heat this winter through a program announced by the Wayne County Department of Social Services (DSS).

"This is the number our research indicates meet eligibility requirements for state-funded assistance," said R. B. Shelton, DSS director.

Application forms with instructions are available statewide. The program, made possible by allocation of about $38 million through legislation enacted and signed into law recently, is designed to ease the burden of high energy costs by providing assistance to low-income households. The Michigan Department of Social Services is administering the program.

Eligibility will be determined primarily on 1977 household income which cannot have exceeded $3,700 for one person, $4,900 for two people, $6,100 for three and $7,300 for a family of four. The income limit for a household of seven is $10,900 and $800 of allowable income may be added for each additional person in a household larger than seven.

Senior citizens, however, will receive an extra allowance for 1977 income: One or two-person households in which at least one of the members is 65 years of age or older are eligible, if the 1977 total family income is $7,000 or less.

"With this effort, we expect that we will be able to reach a majority of those who will be eligible for the program," explained Dave Wigent, project director for MDSS.

Applications also are available at local DSS offices, agencies on aging, and at local and regional community centers. Extra applications are being sent to fuel suppliers around the state for distribution to customers who request them.

A toll-free telephone number is being staffed by MDSS personnel between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. on work days. Those who have not received an application by today and who feel they may be eligible should call 1-800-292-5930 and ask to have one sent to them. The line also is in operation to provide answers to those who may have difficulty in completing the application after they have read all instructions.

Payments for those who qualify are expected to begin before the end of February with all money to be allocated by August.

Benefits will range from a minimum of $60 to a maximum of $200 per household. Payment will be made directly to the energy supplier on behalf of the eligible recipient.

Renters also are eligible for the assistance as long as they are billed directly for their own heat or electric and otherwise qualify. Renters whose heat is included in the rent payment, but are billed separately for their electric service may be eligible for electric assistance only.

Applications must be postmarked no later than April 30 to be accepted for processing and possible payment. Those who qualify for the assistance but have managed to pay their bills will have the amount of the grant applied to their account to help offset future heating expenses.

WCRC seeks recreation revenue-producing

The Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC) currently is looking at new revenue-producing recreational facilities which could be developed at the county-operated Warren Valley Golf Course in Dearborn Heights.

The three-member board has directed the commission's staff to develop some ideas to promote better use of available property on the golf course—and explore the financial methods for constructing and operating the proposed recreational facilities.

Michael Berry, chairman of the Commission, noted that "it is becoming increasingly evident that public service agencies, such as the commission, must look for new ways to provide service to the public of Wayne County."

Wayne County's Parks and Parkways System is administered by the Road Commission and currently consists of a 36-hole golf course at Warren Valley, in addition to hundreds of picnic sites, a marina, two nature centers and a wild life-forest preserve.

Joseph M. Herron, the commission's vice-chairman, and a strong advocate of new recreational development, was quick to point out that the commission is looking at "both federal and state recreation grants and private development funds to construct the new facilities."

"What this board wants is the best possible recreation program—one that will provide facilities such as tennis and racquetball, some or all of the courts enclosed for year-around use, better clubhouse and banquet facilities and any other feasible programs," Herron said. Commissioner Freddie G. Burton, in full support of his fellow commissioners, cited the possibility that the commission could develop a "complete recreational complex that would appeal to residents throughout Wayne County."

"We are vitally interested in any and all types of recreational programs and facilities that could be constructed and operated on existing property at the golf course," Burton said.

The board currently maintains more 4,200 acres of park lands, primarily located along the Middle Rouge Parkway in Western Wayne County.

Preliminary plans, not yet approved pending a complete report on methods of financing, call for the development of a new clubhouse and large banquet facility to replace the existing clubhouse and connected by covered concourses to other facilities.

Also under strong consideration is the construction of indoor tennis-racquet ball courts, with other proposals that include an indoor electronic golf range, gym and exercise facilities and, an indoor or outdoor wave action swimming pool, plus a bowling alley.

"The board feels very positive in looking at all revenue producing recreational sources and has directed the staff to seek out any feasible program," Commissioner Herron said. "It won't cost the board anything to look at each proposal, weigh the costs and the acceptability of each."

The staff recommendations are aimed at using an existing 17.7 acres of golf course land directly adjacent to the present clubhouse, located on Warren Avenue, west of Beech-Daly Road, in Dearborn Heights.

The proposed recreational site would provide adequate space for additional parking facilities and would include extensive landscaping provisions to enhance the new proposed facilities as well as providing screening for residents living west of the golf course area.

Preliminary cost estimates, based on current construction figures, place the total cost of the proposed project between $2.5 and $5 million, depending on what facilities are approved.

The board's decision will primarily depend on provisions that the new facilities produce revenue to off-set the cost of operations while providing the taxpayers of Wayne County with needed recreational outlets.

Final proposals are expected to be completed by early next year.

Water memo takes a look at pollution

As part of its areawide water quality planning effort, the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) has prepared a series of Water Quality Memos that help citizens understand how water gets polluted and what is being done to clean up that pollution.

"We want citizens to learn about the SEMCOG water quality planning program," said SEMCOG Chairperson David H. Shepherd, mayor of Oak Park, "because, when that plan is completed, it will have an effect on every person in this area."

Some of the topics covered include state water quality standards, water pollution terms, sludge disposal, water sampling, and special problems of inland lakes. A complete set of the memos by writing to SEMCOG Information Services Office, 800 Book Building, Detroit 48226, or by calling 961-4266.

Cookie profits earmarked for clinic beautification

The annual Girl Scout cookie sale is currently under way and will continue through Feb. 19. The date of the sale has been extended one week in an effort to overcome setbacks caused by the recent blizzard. Junior Girl Scout Troop 589 of Elwell Elementary School has made plans for use of its portion of the cookie sale profits, according to troop leader Mrs. Judi Fender. It is their intention to beautify the grounds of the Sumpter PRESCAD Clinic by planting flowers and cleaning and grooming the area, as soon as the weather permits. They also plan to donate books and toys to this children's medical facility to help occupy the young patients while awaiting treatment.

Other spring plans include an overnight stay at the Greenfield Village dormitory with tours of the village and museum to follow. This active troop of 23 fourth, fifth and sixth grade girls is expressing appreciation for teachers of Elwell School at a Valentine Tea on Feb. 15 when they will serve coffee, tea and homemade heart cookies. The group, currently working on a Pen Pal proficiency badge, is approaching it in a novel way. They have exchanged letters with girls from Wayne-Westland Troop 365 which is under the leadership of Mrs. Jackie Schomer. In the near future the project will culminate in a "meet your pen pal" roller skating party.

Other activities Troop 589 participated in during this school year included a Christmas party at Sugar Bush Farms with four other area troops, an ice skating party at Lower Huron Metro Park and a bowling outing at Lodge Lanes in Belleville.

Fall projects included preparing and donating Thanksgiving food baskets to two needy senior citizen families.

October found them practicing-camping in the back yard of Mrs. Fender where they learned to pitch tents and cook out of doors. The girls especially enjoyed a scavenger hunt and a hike into the woods to hang bird feeders each person had made.

WCC culinary arts students to present Italian buffet

A buffet which will feature nearly 50 Italian specialties will be given for the public by Washtenaw Community College Culinary Arts students Feb. 17 at 6 p.m. in the campus dining room.

Prosecuting attorney to be ABWA speaker

Wayne County Prosecuting Attorney L. Brooks Patterson will be the guest speaker at the Feb. 16 meeting of the American Business Women's Association (ABWA) in honor of Citizenship Month which is being observed by ABWA groups throughout the nation.

The Huron Valley Charter Chapter of Ypsilanti, which is hosting the speaker, feels Patterson has a very important message for everyone in the area and, therefore, the session is being opened to the public.

The meeting will be held at Nickerson Farms Restaurant starting with cocktails at 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 7. The cost is $5 per person and reservations are required. Please call Caroline Hesson for further information or reservations. Her number during the day is 481-0400, Ext. 221 and evenings 485-0431.

Patterson is campaigning against the releasing of habitual criminals and needs all citizens support to further this cause. Every concerned person is urged to attend to learn how he can help keep the criminal off our streets.

The dinner is one of a series of "elaborate meals students in the Culinary Arts program prepare as a chance not only to make dishes they don't have an opportunity to put together on an everyday basis but also to raise funds so they can attend the Culinary Arts show in Chicago," James Beaton, coordinator of the foods department explains.

The buffet which will feature veal, chicken, beef, pasta, vegetable and seafood dishes as well as numerous breads, tortes and other sweets also gives those students with an inclination to do ice sculptures, an art form few in this country have a chance to do any more, Don Garret, instructor in the department notes.

The public is welcome at the buffet. Tickets are $6.50 for adults, $3.50 for children 10 and under. The Culinary Arts dining room is located on the first floor of the Learning Materials Center of the College at 4800 East Huron River Drive.

Further information is available from Jill Gannon, instructor in the food service program at 973-3584.

Easy wheat germ burritos provide a snappy supper

Wheat germ and vegetables are a great combo. Put them together as a filling for burritos and you have a snappy supper idea. It's healthful, easy to make, economical AND a great change of pace for everyday menus.

To make the filling simply saute onion, garlic, zucchini, green chiles and seasonings. Then stir in the toasted wheat germ and grated monterey jack cheese. Wheat germ is already lightly toasted before it is vacuum packed in glass jars to seal in freshness. Both wheat germ and cheese contribute protein and their flavors mellow the spiciness of the chilies.

The filled flour tortillas make neat and appealing bundles. They are quickly fried until golden in a small amount of hot oil. Serve them piping hot with cool sour cream on top. To make the meal heartier accompany with a marinated bean salad.

Wheat germ is a beautiful food, nutritionally speaking too. Just one quarter cup provides 15 percent of the recommended daily allowance for protein, 30 percent of Vitamin B1, 15 percent of vitamin E plus many other important nutrients and minerals. There are few other natural foods that have this unique combination of special things that are good for you.

Versatile wheat germ gives many dishes and recipes an added edge of extra flavor and nutritional value for no extra effort from the cook. In fact, the tiny golden flakes of regular wheat germ are ready to use straight from the jar. They blend well with both dry and wet ingredients. The flavor is compatible with savory and sweet foods alike.

Wheat germ with sugar and honey is also packed by Kretschmer. This semi sweet cereal product is an excellent breakfast cereal and can be used as an ingredient.

Wheat Germ Veggie Burritos

Cooking oil
1 cup grated monterey jack cheese
3/4 cup vacuum packed wheat germ, regular
6 to 8 flour tortillas
Dairy sour cream
Minced parsley

Saute onion, garlic, zucchini, chiles, basil, oregano, cumin and salt in 1 tablespoon oil over medium heat 5 minutes. Add cheese and wheat germ, stirring until cheese melts. Spoon vegetable mixture onto tortillas. Roll to enclose filling. Fry burritos in small amount of oil until golden, turning once. Top with dairy sour cream and minced parsley, if desired. ## February-- tree pruning month

In spite of the often forbidding weather, February is the best time to prune trees.

One reason, says Mike Walterscheidt, Extension urban forester at Michigan State University, is that it's a slack time for landscape maintenance. Tree fertilizing time comes in March and tree planting time in April. Lawn care time hasn't arrived yet, and the home garden is still in the wish-book stage. Except for shoveling snow, what's to do?

"Another good reason to prune trees in February is that, with the leaves off, you can clearly see the tree's branches and limbs," he points out. "You can spot the weak, V-shaped crotches that are likely to split under the weight of a load of late winter ice and the dead, decayed or brittle branches that might snap off in a wind storm."

If you intend to hire the job done, February is still a good time. It's a slow time for tree services, so you may get quicker service and a lower rate than in mid-summer.

Eliminating weak spots is not the only reason for pruning, according to Walterscheidt. Providing clearance under trees for pedestrians and vehicles is often a necessary chore, especially in urban areas.

"Pruning cuts should be made flush with the trunk or branch," he advises. "Stumps of branches left after pruning will die and decay. And the decay may spread into the main stem or large branches."

A good pruning job maintains the tree's natural shape. The classic poor pruning job is the "flat-top," a tactic usually resorted to when a tree has grown up into the wires it was planted under. Rather than remove the tree entirely, someone cuts its top off parallel to the ground.

"This kind of pruning ruins the appearance and the physical structure of the tree," Walterscheidt says. "The multitude of new shoots the tree puts out are too numerous, and they grow at weak angles."

Careful selection of trees so that they don't outgrow their planting sites should prevent the kinds of problems that lead to such drastic measures.

Painting pruning wounds is a somewhat controversial practice just now. Some research has shown that painted wounds actually decayed faster than untreated wounds. Moisture sealed in by pruning paint tends to make the cut surface a good place for decay organisms to get established, he explains.

"Pruning paint does serve one good purpose, however, and that's to make pruning wounds less noticeable," Walterscheidt says. "Use a light coat — just enough to darken the fresh wood. And make sure you use a product made for this purpose. Creosote, roofing tar and driveway sealer may look something like pruning paint, but they are toxic to trees."

Showers honor Belleville women

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

The "promise of Spring" through the use of fresh daisies, irises and carnations dispelled the cold chill and gloom of winter for a few brief hours Saturday afternoon, Feb. 4, as friends gathered to honor bride-elect Therese Bowles.

Lisa Chen came home from Michigan State University to host the party at her parents' home on Belleville Road, co-hostess being Melissa Mansel, a student at Eastern Michigan University.

Postponed a week because of the recent blizzard, the miscellaneous shower included a buffet of salads, sandwiches and sweets; the focal point being a centerpiece of fresh spring blooms and a cake with the inscription, "Best wishes, Therese and Dave."

Guests, who each received a fresh daisy to pin on her lapel, vied for prizes of long-stemmed roses as they played several bridal theme games. Sandy Willis, Ann Bell and Lisa Pellecchia, another EMU friend, took home the awards. Joann Carnahan, mother of the prospective bridegroom, had the winning number on her daisy and received a bouquet of mixed flowers as her award.

Others attending were the honoree's mother, Sally Bowles; her sister, Sue Bowles; Ailene Werhlin, Gail Bell, Joni Hynson and Sue Chen, all of Belleville; Carol Smith from Western Michigan University, and Kellie Gale from Albion College.

Therese and her fiancé, David Carnahan, have a March 11 altar date at Bethany Baptist Church of Belleville.

Another bride-to-be feted

Cindy Hook, who became the bride of Robert McClurg last Saturday afternoon at Bethany Baptist Church, was the guest of honor Feb. 4 at a miscellaneous shower.

Guests, all neighbors of the Hook's, gathered at the Louisa Drive home of Brenda Neupert who co-hosted the party with Catherine Day of Savage Road. Pencil games were played after which each woman embroidered her initials on a special washcloth for the honoree to keep as a souvenir.

After watching Cindy open her gifts, the group enjoyed cake and ice cream served from a table with blue and white appointments.

On hand for the occasion were Dorothy Maxwell, Myrtle Wells, Gloria Byrom, Jean Stone, Jan Beck, Phyllis Seaman, Karen and Shirley Day, Jody, Jill and Cheryl Neupert and the bride-elect's mother, Marie Hook.

Lawn and garden guide for month

It may be hard to think spring when the wind is swirling snow around your ears. But Michigan State University Extension specialists say it's not too early to begin looking forward to another gardening season.

They suggest: — Trade your snow shovel for a stack of seed catalogs and plan your 1978 garden and landscape plantings. Order your seeds and plant stock early.

— If you've been feeding the birds, keep at it. By now they're relying on your feeder. If you stop feeding them, they may starve.

— Check landscape plant protectors and repair them as necessary to keep plants secure against nibbling rodents, flying salt spray and heavy snow or ice.

— Inspect the winter coverings on perennials and spring bulbs and add to them as needed.

— Check shrubs and trees for masses of tent caterpillar eggs. Egg masses are gray, they encircle small branches and they are covered with a tough, foam-like outer surface. Remove and destroy the egg clusters to eliminate some of this year's pests. Also pick bagworm cases off landscape plants. Destroy them and the eggs they contain.

— Apply dormant fungicide sprays to shade trees that were badly infected with anthracnose last spring.

— Prune wisteria, fruit trees and grape vines. You can also prune other ornamental trees and shrubs, except for spring-flowering species and "bleeders" like birch, dogwood and maple. Pruning now would remove the flower buds on spring-flowering plants and cause "bleeders" to drip sap from untreated wounds. Leave these for summer.

— Continue to check stored fruits and vegetables, bulbs, corms and tubers regularly. Discard unusable produce or moldy or damaged plant materials.

— Water slow growing houseplants only when they need it. It's easy to overwater in the winter when plants aren't getting enough light to grow vigorously.

— Bulbs potted in October can be brought out of cold storage in February and forced into bloom.

— Cut branches of quince, pussy willow, forsythia and other early flowering shrubs and force them to bloom indoors.

Study Club marks 50th anniversary at February meet

The 50th anniversary of its founding was celebrated by the Woman's Study Club of Belleville at its February meeting at the Lemontree Clubhouse. Members shared a decorated birthday cake with two guests, Mary Claire Ellward, a former member and past-president, and Sharlene Tator, a member of the junior study club and the daughter of another past-president, Wilma Tator.

The program centered on reminiscing and recalling the club's many successes and experiences. Organized in February of 1928, the club's first president was Mrs. Frank Miner, the wife of the Belleville Methodist minister. The Woman's Study Club made early impact on the community with its landscaping project of Waterworks Park which time and development has since erased.

The club shouldered its rightful load during the war years by supporting servicemen and veterans. It also has given strong backing to Girl Scouts and the Michigan State Federation's project, Girlstown.

In 1956, the "senior" group sponsored the Belleville Junior Study Club which remains a source of pride and also a source of future club members.

Programs throughout the club year stress involvement in the arts, public and civic affairs, international affairs, homelife, education and conservation. Studies, skits and musical performances by members and guests have been featured recorded through the past half century.

Recently the Woman's Study Club sponsored entry of Huron Valley Steel in the National Business for Beauty competition and was awarded a second prize of $1500. The club applied the money to its current project, the development of Horizon Park along the lake on High Street.

The past presidents in attendance were presented with a daffodil blossom, the club flower adopted in 1939. During the business session, new officers elected were: Helen Miller, president; Pat Baughman, vice-president; Vivian Wallace, recording secretary; Shirley Books, treasurer, and Onnalee Wall, corresponding secretary.

Several members will attend the MSFBC-sponsored Legislation Day in Lansing on Feb. 15 which will place emphasis on women in Michigan government.

were home recently visiting family and friends in the area. They are currently stationed in Jacksonville, Fla. where Carl is a cook in the U.S. Navy.

While they were home, Carl's mother Mrs. Phyllis Blank of Belleville Road, entertained at a babyshower for Marcia Harden who is expecting her second child in May.

Aldine Potter of High Street remains a patient in room 455 at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne where she, reportedly, is feeling stronger each day.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tessmer of Bellaire, Mich. visited area relatives recently while staying at the Willis Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Fulton.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Le Moyne and sons, Craig and Robert of Livonia, had Sunday dinner with Sara's mother, Mrs. Marge Potter of Liberty Street.

Mrs. Winifred Gault of Roland Street has returned home after spending five weeks visiting her daughter and family, Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Bowick of Easley, S. C.

John Crosby, former Belleville resident, celebrated his 88th birthday Feb. 2 at his new residence in Hale, Mich.

Pvt. Mark Harden was home on furlough recently visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Blank of Belleville Road. Mark left Jan. 28 for Germany where he will be stationed for three years.

Sgt. Thomas Parry, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Parry of Dewitt Street, has returned to Fort Polk, La. and his MP division after enjoying his furlough at home.

A former Belleville resident, Leatha Heiser, is seriously ill at University Hospital in Jacksonville, Fla. where she and her husband, Robert, now reside.

Try growing new houseplants from your own produce bin

You can grow interesting, inexpensive houseplants from many common fruits and vegetables. Experimenting with carrot tops, sweet potatoes, pineapple tops, avocado pits and citrus fruit seeds can be an interesting winter plant project.

According to Bobbi Lawrence, Washtenaw County Horticultural Agent, many houseplants can be grown from parts of fruits and vegetables that are normally thrown away. The seeds from lemons, oranges, tangerines and grapefruit, for instance, will grow into attractive, glossy-leaved plants.

All you have to do is take the seeds fresh from the fruit — don't let them dry out — and plant them in moist soil. Push them into the soil about 1/4 inch deep, cover them over and water the soil whenever the top starts to dry out. It may take a while for the seeds to sprout, but once they begin to grow, they will grow quickly.

"Don't count on your orange plants to flower and produce fruit for you," Lawrence advises. "Citrus plants grown indoors usually don't blossom. But they are nice looking plants."

The large, hard pit of the avocado may be slow to sprout, but once you get one started, it will grow a tall stem and a bunch of long, floppy leaves very quickly.

To start an avocado plant, remove the pit from the fruit and wash it. Let it dry for a day or so and then remove the papery brown coating on the pit. Bury the broad, rounded end of the pit in moist potting soil. Keep the soil moist by watering it whenever the top begins to feel dry. When the pit cracks and a shoot and leaves appear, place the pot in a sunny window.

If you get an avocado plant by following these directions, try this experiment: pot another pit upside-down, that is, with the pointed end down. This may grow into a plant with several stems rather than just one.

For a plant that looks much different from the avocado, grow a carrot top, Lawrence suggests. Cut about an inch off the big, rounded end of a carrot. If you can find one that has already started to sprout, your plant has a head start. Place the carrot piece with the sprouts in a dish of wet sand. Roots will grow out of the cut portion of the carrot, and dark green, lacy leaves will grow from the top.

To grow a pineapple plant, twist the top off the fruit. Remove several lower leaves to expose at least a half inch of stem. Often small roots will be exposed. Then insert the top in moist sand or vermiculite. Keep this material moist but not soaking wet. The pineapple doesn't rot. In a month or two, it will grow roots. It can then be carefully transplanted into regular potting soil and placed on a sunny windowsill to grow.

Unlike many other "garbage can" plants, the pineapple may eventually bear fruit. Until then, its long, spiky leaves make it an interesting foliage plant.

Another grocery store item that is easy to grow is the common sweet potato.

"To grow a sweet potato vine, you use the whole sweet potato," Lawrence says. "Place it in a jar with about one-third of the large end sticking up above the jar. To hold it there stick two or three toothpicks into it. Fill the jar with water and set it in a warm, sunny spot. Roots and leafy vines will begin to grow within days."

Change the water once a week to keep it from getting smelly.

These are the common, easy to grow plants, but they are not the only ones you might experiment with.

"The seeds of green peppers and winter squash will sprout quickly and grow into long, green vines," Lawrence says. "They usually can't get enough light in the house to grow very large, but they're fun to watch for a while. The seeds of the more unusual fruits can be planted, too."

The pomegranate, for instance, is loaded with seeds. You could plant some deep and some shallow and vary the amount of light, water and warmth you give them to see what combination seems to work best. Other possibilities include common asparagus seeds, herbs and rhubarb.

It can be a lot of fun to grow these and other grocery store or garbage can plants, but most of them don't remain good looking very long. When they start to look sickly, or if they develop insect or disease problems, Lawrence suggests throwing them away and starting new ones. After all, seeing what comes up is half the fun!

On houseplants, vegetables

Horticulturist answers your gardening queries

Roberta Lawrence, Washtenaw County Horticultural Agent answers timely questions about houseplants, vegetable gardening and related topics.

Q. I tried to find vegetable varieties listed in the MSU recommended varieties bulletin last year and had no luck. The local garden centers just don't carry them. Where do I look anyway?

A. Many recommended varieties are available only as seeds and only through seed catalogs. If you want to buy transplants, try getting together with a few friends and ask a local greenhouse operator or garden center manager to grow or order them for you. If there are enough of you who want these varieties, he should consider the effort worthwhile to get them for you.

Q. My zebra plant has developed large, black blotches on the leaves next to the window. Does it have a disease?

A. Probably not. It's more likely that some of the plant's tender leaves have rested against the cold window glass and been injured by the cold. Windows, especially those without storm windows, get very cold when the outside temperature drops. Plant tissues that touch the glass freeze and turn black, just like frost-nipped garden plants in the fall. Snip injured tissue from the plant about a half-inch below the blackened area. This will prevent secondary rot from traveling from the frozen area into healthy tissue.

Q. Can I use ashes from my wood stove as fertilizer?

A. Yes. Wood ash is a good source of potash, which is a very important plant nutrient. Sprinkle the ashes on the compost pile or save them to plow into the garden soil in the early spring or late fall.

Q. The leaves on my prayer plant have ugly brown tips. Is something wrong with it?

A. Brown tips on many plants are usually taken as a sign that the plant needs more, humid air than it is normally exposed to. If raising the humidity level around the plant doesn't prevent tipburn on new foliage, the problem may be a buildup of fertilizer salts or fluoride in the soil. Fluoride toxicity is particularly rough on dracaena, chlorophytum, cordyline, lilies and marantas (prayer plants). The source of the fluoride may be drinking water, perlite or peat in the soil, or superphosphate fertilizers. Avoid fluoride problems by watering with distilled water or rainwater. Leach excess fertilizer salts from the soil occasionally to prevent their buildup to damaging levels.

Right to die: What some think about it

By MAUREEN BEATTY

Since death is a reality that we must all face eventually, the proposed right-to-die legislation for Michigan should be of concern to people at all age levels. I went to some of our area citizens for their opinion about the right-to-die bill and about their feelings toward life support systems now available. Here are their answers.

Eleanor Doherty, 59, Westland: "I feel the victim of incurable disease should be told. They should be given the opportunity to straighten out their financial affairs, and, if possible allowed to do things they have long wanted to do. I see no purpose in sustaining life by artificial means."

Marilyn Mayberry, 30, Detroit: "My feelings are mixed. I can understand maintaining life, if their is hope. The decision must be made as to what is best for the family. What it could do to a family, financially and mentally, is devastating to think about. The question is, should we have control over life and death, or are we interfering with God's work?"

If faced with the decision for my family, I probably would be in favor of sustaining life, but for myself, only if there was a ray of hope."

Joyce Smith, 39, Westland: "As adults, we have the right to make these decisions for ourselves. We should have a choice. I made the decision to donate my kidneys at the time of my death and carry a card in my wallet stating so. The same decision should be made ahead about life support systems. The responsibility then, would not fall on our guardians at a time when emotions are understandably shaky."

Arthur Reynolds, senior citizen, Farmington Hills: "If there is life, no one has the right to pull the plug. Only God has a choice. If there is life, there is a chance; if there is a chance, I'll take it. Maybe I believe in miracles."

Marge Gartz, 48, Westland: "The patient should be entitled to pull the plug. There is no sense in being kept alive with no other hope then of being a vegetable. We should have a right to die with dignity. Modern science is marvelous, if there is hope, but if there is no hope and you have faith, that is believe in life hereafter, then why prolong the problem."

Frank Farrell, 68, Wayne: "I have mixed feelings. Basically I believe in preserving life at all costs. This is my personal feeling about the value of the human being. If you chip away at the value of a person's worth, you begin to destroy the whole structure of values. The life support system may be selective as to the various organs of the body, but terminating the life support system would be contradictory to a doctor's oath."

The opinions of the people should be heard. Next week we will go to our citizens with the question: Would you like to have socialized medicine in this country?"

The Wayne County Office on Aging will be hosting a "White Elephant Auction" at 1 p.m. Feb. 22. The auction is open to the public and will be held at J Building in the Wayne County General Hospital Eloise complex. Many items have been donated by local merchants for the event.

Refreshments will be served, so join us for a fun afternoon.

Wanshon, Meyer, Doyle, Leverenz win regional wrestling titles

Some 19 area high school wrestlers will have an opportunity to prove they are the best in the state of Michigan.

They earned the opportunity by placing fourth or better at the recently concluded state regional tournaments held at Ypsilanti last Saturday.

And leading the troops will be four regional champs, two each from Westland John Glenn and Wayne Memorial.

The survivors of regionals across the state will assemble Friday and Saturday in Kalamazoo at Western Michigan University to decide the 13 weight classes and the state team championship.

Top-ranked Temperance Bedford, which won the Class A regional title at Ypsilanti, and two-time state champ is seeking an unprecedented third successive state championship.

Glenn, a third place finisher, and Wayne, which finished fourth, could sneak in if the chips fall in the right places.

Glenn is taking regional champs Bill Meyer (145) and Jeff Doyle (165) along with regional runners-up Paul Demers (98) and Tim O'Neill (105) and fourth place finisher Mickey Bauer (138) to the state.

Meanwhile Wayne will pin its state hopes on Bo Wanshon (119) and Chris

Leverenz (178) who captured regional gold medals, along with runner-up Chris Bachus (138) and third place regional finisher Corry Bachus (132). Belleville was hit with a rash of unexpected and unwelcomed surprises at the regional but managed to get through four of its wrestlers, including runner-up at 145, Rick Winekoff; third place finishers Joe Justin (119) and Bob Cook (178) and Jeff Rose who nailed down a fourth place at 132.

Plymouth Canton will be represented at the state by Kyle Heaton who wound up fourth at the Ypsilanti regional at the 155-pound class.

Salem has the largest area contingent which will travel to Kalamazoo. The Rocks have a regional runner-up in Wally Brown (155) and a third place finisher in Jim Ross (126), while Jeff Brown (98), Rene Leist (119), and heavyweight Bob Dasher all qualified by placing fourth.

About facts and figures

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Ever since "The Great Betrayal" I have had my suspicions about Jak Warren.

Warren is the person who drops into these offices each Sunday and compiles what we call in this profession, "the agate", small type reserved for the results of an athletic event.

Warren, a New England transplant, has been a rabid Wayne Memorial wrestling fan and he's been following the team's trials and tribulations since the beginning of the decade. It was natural, therefore, that he took up taking score to make sure that the final results were actually the final results — that there were no discrepancies.

Warren's enthusiasm for the sport rubbed off on me — and some have accused me of biased reporting when it came to Wayne's wrestling teams — just ask any Glenn or Belleville fan. They'll confirm any suspicions.

Anyway, Warren became so good at compiling the scores at meets and tournaments that he soon earned the respect of not only the area coaches but those across the state.

Jak can pick up a telephone and call just about any coach in this state and they'll know who he is.

This week an unexpected honor was bestowed upon our statistician when George Hobbs, who is the head coach at Western Michigan University and the host for the Michigan High School Athletic Association's Class A State Wrestling Championship "to become the official scorer for the state finals."

It seems that there was some confusion last year at the state championship over the scores, in particular, scores involving the leading teams — Temperance Bedford, Adrian and Detroit Catholic Central — and the state officials approached Warren and he straightened the mess out.

Now, about "that Great Betrayal".

A few years ago, 1976 to be exact, Wayne Memorial marched home from the Schoolcraft College Invitational sporting the "Most Pins Trophy".

Jak checked his scorecards and shook his head. It seems that the officials at Schoolcraft had accorded Wayne a victory by a fall when in reality it was a victory by forfeit.

Warren doubled checked and discovered that John Glenn had actually won the trophy and informed the then Wayne head Wayne Coach Don Haney and Glenn's Bob Lusk about the mistake.

Wayne was forced to hand over the trophy to their arch rivals.

"Now why did you have to do that?" I asked Warren.

"It wouldn't have been honest to keep that trophy," Warren replied.

That's the kind of scorekeeper the MHSAS will have this weekend in Kalamazoo.

And here's another note.

DEAR MR. MOORADIAN:

I dropped off two stories concerning women's volleyball last week and they didn't appear in our paper. I was promised they would be in. I spoke to someone by telephone and they checked with you and said they would get in.

I have lived in this city 22 years and have yet to see The Eagle do a decent job on women's sports. Not only did Mr. Mooradian NOT return my call, but the paper didn't bother to put stories concerning community involvement.

Here I am at 12:30 p.m. to buy 20 copies for the friends of the volleyball league and the articles aren't in the newspaper. I think you have done us a discredit.

Beth Johnson,
Wayne

Sorry Beth, but we have deadlines in this profession.

Wayne cagers unbeaten in '78

It has taken nearly a full season but the incredible Wayne cagers who defy just about every law in the rules of probability continue to remain undefeated in 1978.

After losing their first three in the Great Lakes, Coach Chuck Henry's Zebras have won nine straight conference games and six straight over-all.

In fact, after Wayne stunned Wyandotte 64-55 and Monroe 58-44, it moved into sole possession of second place (9-3), two games out of first occupied by Taylor Truman (10-1), a team whose record the Zebras marred.

Wayne had a rematch with natural rivals Tuesday night, (and after what Glenn did to the Zebras during the Christmas Tournament don't be surprised if there isn't a Valentine massacre, of sorts, in the old Wayne hanger).

The Zebras have a Thursday night game with Riverview, then will make up a snowed out league tilt with Fordson the following Thursday.

Wayne put Wyandotte out of misery early as the Zebras got seven points from Bob Boertje in the first period which staked them to a 21-14 lead. Though the Bruins came back to outscore their rivals 18-17 in the second period, the two fought to a standstill in the third frame, each putting 10 points on the scoreboard. The Zebras protected a seven-point spread (49-42) as Richard Carroll contributed six of his game high 22 points in the final period.

Wayne's phenomenal shooting at the free throw line was the difference as the Zebras connected on 18 of 20 opportunities. Along with Carroll, teammates Calvin Lee and L.W. Matthews hit in double figures. Lee had 12 and Matthews 10.

Monroe caught the Zebras napping in the first period and worked its way into the lead 16-6 before Darnell Morris provided the adrenalin which brought the Wayne cagers to life. Tied at 32-32 at the intermission, the Zebras broke the knot with a 14-8 scoring edge in the third period and salted away the

Detour ahead

Carefully watching North Farmington's Mark Thompson's moves is John Glenn's Mitch Preston (34) whose pinpoint shooting accuracy Friday night contributed to the Westlanders' 62-53 triumph over the Raiders. The victory sealed the Northwest Suburban Conference championship for Coach Gordie Davis' cagers who are one game away from a perfect conference season.

Belleville, Stevenson split WW swim titles

Though the format was different, the outcome was about the same at the 15th annual Western Wayne Swimming & Diving Championships.

Belleville, the perennial champ, successfully defended its title for an unprecedented fourth consecutive year, while Livonia Stevenson made its debut in the expanded invitational and captured top honors in the second division.

It was the first time in the history of the invitational that the teams were divided into two separate divisions. Belleville's 283 team points allowed Coach Sam Vicchy's Tigers to retain the title for the fourth straight year.

The Tigers outdistanced Wayne Memorial (246), Plymouth Salem (196), Livonia Franklin (143), Plymouth Canton (137), Cherry Hill (72) and redford Township Thurston (54).

Stevenson victory came at the expense of city rival, Bentley (236), John Glenn (227), Willow Run (159), Garden City East (101), Garden City West (77) and Dearborn Heights Robichaud (60).

Stevenson had 288 points and five first places, including two record-shattering performances by Tom Smith who was clocked in an excellent time of 1:46.97 for the 200-yard freestyle and won the 500-yard freestyle in 4:45.16.

Glenn managed to break into the winning column thanks to senior diver Bob Freeborn's performance. He compiled 322.40 points.

Belleville, which has produced a school of collegiate caliber divers, had the top diver in the first division in Dana Thorpe who scored a stunning 419.0 points, a meet record. The Tigers also finished first in the 400-yard freestyle with Mike Stoelton, Chris Liedel, Joe Thomas and Harold Renton.

Plymouth Canton's 200-yard medley relay foursome of Cline, Peterson, Wood and Tanner rewrote the record for that event when they combined for a 1:46.29.

Peterson shattered the meet record in the 200-yard individual medley. Paul's winning time was an enviable 2:06.14.

In one of the closest races of the evening, Plymouth Salem's Craig Finley held off Wayne Memorial's Dave Hill to win the 500-yard freestyle in a fast 5:54.12. Hill, the first swimmer ever to break the five minute mark in the event for Wayne, posted a 4:54.27.

Vicchy was pleased with his team's performance, but he pointed out that "we didn't swim super."

"It's always good to win, but I feel we didn't really swim that well. When you're chased you're supposed to win, but it doesn't help your times."

Rockets subdue North

It was the kind of game a coach dreams his team can play but never really believes it will be a reality.

A game when the players don't hog the ball; pass off to the free man; take the percentage shots; make the clutch free throws, and help in a zone.

It was all there for Glenn's Gordie Davis to enjoy, to talk about afterwards and hope the momentum will carry.

Glenn's cagers left their "dream game" for the rematch with North Farmington which had titles on their mind. When the fragmentary 32-minutes were over, the Westlanders had exquisitely outmaneuvered, outmanned and outplayed their arch rivals, winning a decisive 62-53 victory.

That victory clinched for the Westlanders the conference title outright. Though Glenn still must meet Livonia Franklin, a loss by the defending champs wouldn't affect their first place status.

It is the fourth time that Davis' teams have won the championship during his 10-year tenure as coach. It is also the first back-to-back cage championship for the Rockets.

"I'm proud at the way the kids played," Davis later said. "They played a beautiful ball game, what else can I say?"

Because the Wayne-Westland Community School District doesn't have school this Friday and Monday, the Glenn-Franklin game has been scheduled for Thursday night.

More than 1,500 fans jammed the Rocket gym in what was a "must" game for Glenn and North. North, beaten only once (by Glenn) in 14 outings this season needed the victory to snatch the title from the Westlanders' mitts. Because Glenn isn't scheduled to meet Garden City East, which North has beaten twice, North would have probably ended up with a better won-lost percentage than the Westlanders.

North knew would it was playing for and the superior Raider height displayed itself early. Early second and third shots off the boards, the visitors leaped in front 18-10 after eight minutes.

Daran Armstrong, Glenn's dexterous junior guard, and senior Pat McBride, kept the Rockets in the game until Mitch Preston warmed up.

Preston tossed in three corner shots and sank two free throws while Armstrong and McBride chipped in two baskets apiece in the second period to lift the Rockets to a 26-all tie at halftime.

While untiring Tom Jurewicz working both ends of the court for the Westlanders and given the responsibility of keeping a couple of 6-7 inch pivotmen, Mark Biehl and Harold Beardsley, from controlling the boards, Glenn managed to edge to a 37-34 lead after three periods.

Jurewicz had five of those third period points while Preston sank a pair of jumpers.

Heading to the wire with a three-point cushion, Armstrong's heroics at the free throw line in the last eight minutes proved fatal to the North. The quick and elusive ball-handler converted 10 of 11 charities including a three-point play with 3:28 left that widened the gap to seven points and convinced North to forget about the championship until next year.

Belleville divers dominated the First Division. Western Wayne Invitational competition, Saturday as Coach Sam Vicchy's proteges took four of the top six places, including a first by Dana Thorpe who

Grissom's world Legendary Lonesome George leaves legacy

By SAM GRISSOM
Outdoor Writer

Each year we seem to lose one more thing from Our Outdoors.

Usually the loss is only felt by those few directly affected by it; such as the loss of public access to a marsh, or the placing of an animal on an endangered list.

However, when that loss is someone who is able to instill a love of the Outdoors in others, it is a loss that is felt by all of us including nature.

Recently we lost "Lonesome George" Pfeifer and his absence will create a void not easily filled. His ability as a story teller is legendary, and most of us grew up listening to George tell us the latest tips and techniques on his "Woods and Waters" program and on "Michigan Outdoors".

I'm sure many of us owe successful trips to George's sage advice.

George was a true pioneer in his field. He was an innovator and many of his outdoor reporting techniques are being used by outdoor writers all over the country. He was preaching ecology before most of us were born; without his effort and teaching I'm sure most of the Outdoors we now enjoy would be, or soon be, an apartment complex.

For years he was known by the name "Lonesome George", but he was far from lonely. Everywhere he went he was among friends.

One of the reasons he was such a good storyteller was that he was a great listener. Everyone that had a story or a tip was given his complete attention and felt George really cared about what they had to say.

A man who has the ability to do something is valuable, but the man who can also influence others to do something with him is priceless.

George was able to do that with the Outdoors. Just loving the Outdoors wasn't enough for George. He wanted others to also love the Outdoors; and he was able to accomplish this.

Michigan is blessed with an abundance of woods and streams. We were also blessed in having George Pfeifer. We are all indebted to "Lonesome George".

I'm sure the best way for us to repay that debt would be by enjoying and protecting "his Outdoors".

Balnaves, Sellars double winners

Franklin dunks John Glenn

Franklin continued to keep its Northwest Suburban Conference swimming championship ambers burning last week with a victory over Westland John Glenn, 90-79.

Coach Larry Teahan's Patriots chalked up eight of the 11 first places with Gary Sellars and Mike Balnaves accounting for two each.

The meet was closer than the score would indicate. After the backstroke, the ninth events, the Livonians had a slim 71-68 lead, but a 1-2 finish in the breaststroke and a first place in the final event, the 400-yard freestyle clinched it for the title hopefuls.

Sellars churned out a 2:13.1 to win the 200-yard individual medley, and he stroked a 1:07.7 winning the breaststroke. Balnaves had a 50.2 for the 100-yard freestyle and he posted a 22.8 to win the 50-yard freestyle. Franklin and Glenn go their separate ways on Thursday (Feb. 16), clashing with non-conference rivals. Franklin is at Garden City West, while Glenn travels to Livonia Churchill. Both meets are at 7 p.m.

Wayne washes over Monroe

A rash of unexpected record-setting performances and a victory in the final relay propelled Wayne Memorial to a "must" victory over Monroe in their Great Lakes 8 Conference swim confrontation last week.

Wayne, the defending champ, chalked up only five of the 11 first places but had the depth to stop the Trojans who are seeking to unseat the champ from the conference throne.

Tom Brown and Dave Hill set

Wayne records in winning the 200-yard freestyle and the 500-yard freestyle, respectively. Brown was clocked in 1:51.2 for the 200, while Hill covered the longer distance in 5:03.9. He came back to swim a 4:54.27 for the 500 at the Western Wayne Invitational to become the first swimmer in Wayne history to shatter the five minute barrier in that event.

Diver Scott Papke amassed 218.55 points and Joe Miles carded a 23.8 in winning the 50-yard freestyle.

Wayne needed the 400-yard freestyle relay, (or finish second and third in the event) in order to sew up the event. Coach Jim McPartlin had the winning combination in Miles, Brian Hewett, Karl Staber and Tom Brown. They were clocked in 3:29.7.

Wayne is back in conference waters Thursday night when the Zebras take on Wyandotte. They have a make-up with Fordson on Tuesday before ending the conference dual meet phase of the season a week from Thursday at Riverview.

At the summit Cherry Hill retains cage title

Cherry Hill cagers will stay at the summit of the Tri-River Conference basketball league for another year. Coach Dick McNally's Spartans made sure of it last week by thrashing Garden City West 99-72 on Tuesday then annihilating Dearborn Heights Crestwood 104-72 for their eighth and ninth league victories respectively.

The two wins quelled any would-be title pretenders hopes of snatching the crown away from the defending champs who a week before were embarrassed by a so-so Taylor Kennedy quintet which handed the Spartans their first setback of the league year.

The two impressive Cherry Hill victories last week convinced McNally that his "team is ready to make its debut as a state power."

"I now feel we are a legitimate contender for the Class B state honors," McNally said. "If we can carry this momentum into the district playoffs, it will be difficult to stop us."

Crestwood, which had a mathematical chance of catching the Spartans didn't stand a chance against the hot-shooting Cherry Hill quintet. With forward Tyrone Jordan leading the massacre and Don Callaway earning equal adulatory for his backcourt antics, the Spartans leaped on their visitors 26-16 in the first period, rode to a 49-35 halftime advantage then went on to outscore the Chargers 24-15 and 31-26 in the final two periods.

Tyrone scored a career high 35 points, bagging 17 field goals and a free throw to lead all scorers. Floyd Simmons contributed a hefty 23 points while Callaway destroyed Crestwood's defense with 13 assists and three other razor sharp passes that slipped through his mates' hands.

Against West, Cherry Hill blasted its way to 66 points in two periods to set a school record for points scored in a 16 minute span.

West raised the white flag after the first eight minutes, trailing 31-17. Cherry Hill then piled up a 66-30 lead at the intermission and McNally turned loose his second wave of troops to clean up.

Belleville cagers 'need some help'

The "help wanted" sign has been posted outside Belleville cage Coach Tom Niemi's office, but don't apply unless you have some pertinent information on how to four more Suburban 8 Conference ball games and how to stop league-leading Livonia Bentley.

The Tigers have kept their conference title hopes alive but must win their remaining four games and get some help from someone else in the conference in a way of a Bentley setback. Bentley leads the league with an 8-1 record and the Tigers are entrenched in third, garnering a 6-3 mark. Sandwiched between the two is Plymouth Salem.

"We still have a slim shot at the title, but a lot of things have to happen in our favor for us to get on top," Niemi pointed out.

One reason why Belleville got itself into the fix was an unexpected loss at Redford Union where the Tigers slipped 74-65 and also lost senior center Chris Koger to boot. Koger fell after hauling down a rebound in the first period and he fractured his hand. According to the Belleville coach Chris will probably be out the rest of the season.

Despite a balanced scoring attack, the Tigers let R.U. get away in the second period and played catch-up ball the rest of the night. Belleville led 11-7 after the first eight minutes, was outscored 27-11 in the next period to leave for the dressing rooms trailing 34-24 at halftime. Though they made up the difference in the third period and came within four, 46-42, of tying it up, Redford Union slammed the doors shut on their visitors with a 28-23 wedge in the last period.

Mike Petch caused most of Belleville's problems as the stubborn 6-3 forward collected a game high 28 points and 23 rebounds.

Kelvin Patterson tossed in 22 for the Tigers while teammates Herb Burrus and Elvis Currie chipped in 15 and 12 respectively.

Belleville picked itself off the floor and defeated a tall and rugged Edsel Ford 65-51 Friday night. A 23-9 scoring edge in the third period was the difference. The Tigers found themselves behind 16-10 and 27-22 after the first two periods before Niemi decided to abandon his man-to-man for a full court press which caused the T-Bird offense to stall and sputter.

Patterson foiled the regimented Edsel quintet's upset plans by pumping in 27 points, most of those long-distance jumpers. He got ample support from Dave Straight who replaced the injured Koger in the starting five. Straight contributed 12 points and Burrus added 10 for the winners who made 23 of 36 at the foul line.

AUTO FACTS

While England pioneered stationary steam engines, it was a Frenchman, Captain Nicholas Cugnot, who constructed the first steam car. Its performance in 1769 left much to be desired. At its top speed of three miles an hour, it lumbered 100 yards on a head of steam. And although the steam car continued to intrigue engineers and mechanics, as it does to this day, it had become obvious by the middle of the 19th century that something better than a steam engine was needed.

Romulus cagers stretch win streak to 5

Airborne

A rebound always brings cagers flying for possession and here Romulus' Herb Buckley (22) duels Pershing's William Thomas (53) for the ball in their initial confrontation of the season. The duel ended in a Romulus victory which preserved a five-game Eagle winning streak.

There are a couple of rare games that a coach likes to win and remembers the most—like his first victory or his 100th or a first victory over his alma mater.

So when Romulus scheduled Detroit Pershing he nonchalantly mentioned to his young Eagles that he attended Pershing and graduated from the Detroit High School.

"I'd love to beat them," he remarked. And his cagers went out and surprised their rookie head coach with a 80-75 victory. That was last Tuesday. On Friday they travelled to Marine City for their first visit and won 69-60 to stretch what was once a modest 3-game winning streak to a now impressive 5-game skein.

"I'm proud of this team," Hanna said. "If anyone would have told me at the beginning of the year that we would have this kind of success, I would have told him 'he must be kidding'."

The best part of it all is that Hanna graduates only one player, senior guard John Kersey. His Eagles should come back even stronger a year from now.

But the innovative Hanna, whose Eagles are 9-5 on the year, has the team moving - and Pershing's Doughboys won't argue that point. Pershing struck first, taking a 20-16 lead after eight minutes, but Romulus, thanks to 6-1 sophomore Vince Bean turned things over in the second period.

Bean came off the bench and tossed in 16 of his 18 points in the second period to foil Pershing's defenses and give the home team a 43-30 lead at the half. Though Pershing managed to keep the outcome of the game in doubt to the end, they never regained the lead.

Bean's 18 points, was second to Pershing's James Hardy's 24 points for individual scoring honors. Hardy was the lone double figure scorer for the visitors.

Meanwhile, Darnell Lewis contributed 14 and Kersey fired in 13 in the Romulus triumph.

Both teams were also active at the foul line where the Eagles canned 30 of 44 opportunities as compared to the Doughboys' 15 of 19 performance.

Romulus led all the way against Marine City after outscoring their hosts 19-12 in the first period. However, the Eagles never really put it away. Marine City closed the gap to 33-28 at the intermission, but never got the equalizer as the Eagles dashed off periods of 21-18 and 15-14 to digest their ninth win.

The two Lewis brothers, Darrell and Richard had 14 and 12 points, respectively, while Herb Buckley accounted for 14 points and Kersey added 10. Roy Parmentier led all scorers as the Marine City cager bagged 21 points.

Huron regional 'B' champ

Top-ranked New Boston Huron scored more than three-times as many points as its closest rival to capture the Class B regional wrestling tournament held Saturday at Willow Run.

The Chiefs, who won two individual weight classes, compiled 136½ points, outdistancing second place Dearborn Heights Robichaud which also had two firsts.

Huron's Jeff Melton was the top performer at 105 as he defeated Saline's Glenn Alaniz in the finals, 9-1, while Chuck Elliott stopped Dexter's Tim Young, 11-4, to win the gold in the 112-pound class.

Robichaud, which launched its wrestling program three years ago, recorded a first when John Lucas and Bob Yauck emerged as the school's inaugural regional champs.

John Lucas won the 191-pound title, while Bob Yauck Jr. earned the heavyweight crown.

The top four finishers in each of the 13 weight classes qualify for the state finals which will be held at East Kentwood High School over the weekend.

Spartans place title on block

Can Cherry Hill stop Southgate without all-stater Rick Kogelschatz.

That is the question the Tri-River Conference swim teams are asking as the two undefeated teams prepare for their Thursday afternoon engagement. The clash could produce the next conference champ.

"We don't have Rick so that puts a lot of pressure on some of the other kids," said Cherry Hill Coach Jerry Pawloski. "Southgate has a lot of depth and also the frontrunners, so we're definitely going to be in a battle."

Cherry Hill which has shared or won outright the last seven conference championships has been struggling since Kogelschatz, a two-time All-Area versatile performer has moved to the sidelines because of illness. He isn't expected to be back for the conference championships scheduled for Feb. 23-25 at Cherry Hill.

Rick's absence reflected the closeness of the Crestwood-Cherry Hill meet. The Spartans who have never had any problems with the Dearborn Heights swimmers managed to win 95-77 but had seen first places. They usually sweep 10 against the Chargers.

Northville forces Canton cagers 'to put up or...'

Entrusted with the Western Six Conference basketball lead most of the season, Plymouth Canton finds itself forced into a "must" situation this week.

Coach Casey Cavel's Chiefs were forced up against the wall by a hot-shooting Northville quintet which outplayed their league rivals 73-67. The loss dipped Canton's record to 5-2 and into a two-way tie for first place with Waterford Mott, a team they'll meet Friday night.

"It's definitely a 'must' game for us," said Cavel who has two make-up contests with third place Walled Lake Western also on his mind. "We can't afford to lose."

Cavel was disappointed with the quality of officiating he received during the Northville game and spoke out about the quantity of fouls his team was subjected to. Northville had 33 chances at the foul line and made 19.

"We actually lost it at the free throw line," Casey said. "We doubled the foul output of our opponents, according to the refs. Except for the first period and some questionable calls, I felt it was a good game."

Northville lived off of its 23-10 first period advantage as both teams came back and scored 17 in the second eight minutes. Canton, led by guard Butch King, made a bid to erase the deficit in the third period and came within 10 at the end of the period (59-49) but couldn't muster enough scoring power.

Fouls took their toll on Canton starters early in the fourth period as Keith Fuelling and Brett Eckles departed from the game early. The Chiefs managed to come within four midway in the finale, but that's the closest.

King continued to scorch the nets as he tossed in 15 field goals for a game high 30 points. Randy Reimas added 12 while Kurt Herbert contributed 10.

Meanwhile Livonia Churchill failed to shake its doldrums and succumbed to Waterford Mott 73-60. Coach Fred Price's Chargers are now 2-5 in the league and will try to improve their record Friday at the expense of Farmington Harrison. The Livonians also have a makeup game Wednesday with Mott.

Mott struck quickly as it rushed out in front 17-10 in the first period and built up a 34-26 lead at the intermission before going on to outscore their rivals 17-13 and 22-21 in the last two periods.

"We got within five points in the third period," said Price, "but that was the closest. Mott played a solid zone defense and we had our problems cracking it."

Churchill also had its hands full with 6-3 Kevin Heatherington who pumped in 24 points. Jeff Sioma and John Cooperrider supplied the winners with 13 and 10 points, respectively.

Dunked!

Romulus' Darryl Lewis (50) jams the ball for two of his points that helped Coach Rod Hanna beat his alma mater, Detroit Pershing last week. The Eagles are riding the crest of a 5-game winning streak.

TODD BEYER

Wayne netter is ranked 15th in Michigan

Todd Beyer, who has made all-conference Great Lakes 8 teams and been selected to an All-Area tennis squad, has been ranked 15th in the state by the Southeastern Michigan Tennis Association.

Beyer, a 17-year-old senior at Wayne Memorial High School, earned the distinction by competing and winning several key amateur tournaments in the 18 and under age division.

A member of Coach Jack Armstrong's championship team at Wayne, Todd won the Great Lakes 8 Conference title in No. 1 singles competition and also claimed a first place at the regional to advance to the state finals where he was eliminated.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Beyer of Wayne.

Hockey leader finds living is not easy atop of league

Surviving two close calls, front-running Extra Point Bar remained atop of the Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey League last week.

The barmen had to come up with some fancy skating to win a pair of 5-4 decisions which enabled them to hang on to first place, one point ahead of the Four-Seasons Sporting Shop.

Huron Valley Oil trailed Extra Point 4-1 in the third period then came within one goal twice of making up the difference, but John Colligan's goal with four minutes left iced the victory for the league-leaders.

Dave Zajac connected for a hat trick and also had two assists for the winners, while Tom Dilama carded two goals and solos went to Chuck Heebbs and Terry Carley.

Broch Builder, mired in sixth place, also made the barmen sweat before handing over a 5-4 decision. Colligan again supplied the decisive goal. Teammate Ray Erickson led the way with a couple of goals and Norm Hanlak chipped in with three assists. Jerry Howley scored two goals for the losers.

Jim Gibson's tough goal-tending highlighted the Four-Seasons' two victories last week. Gibson made a pair of first period goals stand up in a 2-0 shutout over Jack's Sporting Center. Norm Beasley and Dick Broze scored for the winners.

Tastee Freeze robbed Gibson of his second shutout of the week as it tallied one goal in a 2-1 setback. Ray Schemski and Jim McCusker turned on the light for the winners, while John King fired the goal into the nets for the losers.

Johnson Carbonic edged Tastee Freeze 7-6 to step up one notch from the cellar. Johnson's, paced by the league-leading scorer, Ron Johnson, who accounted for four, also received a pair of goals from Lee Callaway.

Tony Lanni led the losers as he turned in with a pair of goals.

Jack's Sporting Goods held Johnson and Callaway to a goal apiece and skated off with an impressive 6-4 triumph.

Paul Briski scored twice for Jack's and Paul Cramer, Harold Phipps, Rick Mullen and John Clearwood also scored.

Chuck Jennett and Ray Gabbert also got into the scoring act for Johnson's.

Third place 52nd Show Bar struck with less than a minute to play to salvage a 6-6 tie over a fast-improving Broch's Builders team.

Red Wing oldtimers due in town

While the Detroit Red Wings continue their chase for a playoff berth, the oldtimers from that team will be chasing the puck Friday, Feb. 24 at the Westland Arena.

The "Oldtimers" will take on the cream of the crop of the Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey League at 7:30 p.m. The proceeds from the game will go to charity.

Tickets are priced at $2.50 for adults and $1 for children 12 and under.

Beasley's has the lead

Beasley Bombers bombed American Waste Service, taking two sets to remain in first place in the Wayne Mixed Volleyball league.

The league-leading Bombers chalked victories of 15-8 and 15-12. American Waste Service started the series with a close 16-14 triumph but lost its poise in the next two matches.

Beasley's received outstanding performances from Norm and Linda Beasley while "spikers" Candy Ramon and Arnie Kosteva of America stood out for the losers.

McNeer and Pigutis share second place. Each has 20 points. In their confrontation last week, McNeer's lost the opener 14-6, then bounced back and won the remaining two sets. John McNeer and S.T. Johnson led the winner's assault while Lillian Vojak had a good game for the losers.

Wayne's in second place

Morris' 22 points were tops for the game and Carroll was the only other Wayne player to break the two-figure column. He had 11 points.

Wayne, Monroe grapplers share league title again

Wayne and Monroe will continue to share the Great Lakes 8 Conference wrestling share, something they got accustomed to doing last year.

But the two arch conference rivals defend their share of the crown in the opposite way they did a year ago. Last year Monroe defeated Wayne in a dual meet, but lost out at the conference meet.

So this year Wayne lost the conference meet after beating the Trojans in an eye-to-eye confrontation.

Monroe garnered 225½ points to Wayne's 206½ at the conference championships held last week at Wayne High.

Wayne also had six individual champs as Dave Shell (98), Bo Wanshon (119), Corry Bachus (132), Chris Bachus (138), Jim Fairchild (145), Mitch Dart (178) and Chris Leverenz (191) earned gold medals.

WSB PERSONAL CHECK PLAN...

EASY MONEY

A Wyandotte Savings Bank checking account is a great place to put your money. We protect it, insure it and provide you with personalized checks so that you can use it anytime you please. That's why we call it Easy Money.

PERSONAL CHECK PLAN

Our Personal Check Plan has proven to be the most desirable checking account for many people. We've designed it for those people who write only a few checks a month and don't wish to be bothered with a required minimum balance.

Here's How It Works

1. Personal Check Plan accounts may be opened individually or as a joint account.
2. There's no minimum required balance.
3. You will receive a free checkbook cover with your name imprinted in gold or a special textured cover without imprint.
4. Personal Check charges are the lowest in the area. You pay only 10¢ per check written and a monthly statement fee of 25¢.
5. There's no charge for deposits.
6. Once a month, you receive an itemized statement and all your cancelled checks.

WSB has three other checking plans, too. One is just right for you. For example, if you're 65 or are receiving Social Security retirement benefits, WSB has a free checking account for you. Open your WSB checking account soon at any of our offices. You'll find it's "Easy Money!"
